Apple Storage Expert Cited by Horticulturists

Smock Gets Purse at Banquet

Will Make Study In New Zealand

Robert Smock of the New York State College of Agriculture, Cornell University, was honored at a testimonial dinner last night at the Gov. Clinton Hotel for his work in controlled atmosphere apple storage.

Sponsoring the dinner, attended by 100 persons, were fellow fruit growers of eastern New York State.

Smock, who leaves today for New Zealand for six months study of the apple industry down under, was presented with a framed citation, luggage, a projector, electric shaver, cigars and a purse estimated at about $1,500.

Part of Meeting

The program last night was part of the 21st annual Eastern Meeting of the New York State Horticultural Society which opened Wednesday for a three-day show in the New York State Armory on Manor Avenue.

Daniel M. Dalrymple of Lockport, secretary-treasurer of the society, told The Freeman this morning that Wednesday was an excellent day at the show, with approximately 350 people in an audience in the gymnasium and hundreds filing among one of the most ambitious exhibits in the history of the show.

Exhibitors Pleased

He said exhibitors were "quite pleased" with general attendance.

The show is open from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. today and closes about noon Friday.

The citation presented to Smock last night was for his pioneering development of controlled atmosphere storage for apples in the United States. Presentation was by Ralph Smith of Poughkeepsie, president of the horticultural society.

Gifts were presented by Paul Kurtz of New Paltz, one of the first growers in the state to install a controlled atmosphhere storage room for apples. He is a long-time friend of Smock.

Will Make Report

While in New Zealand Smock will study the handling of apples in bulk and techniques of controlling apple scald. New Zealand is a leader in the mechanized handling of produce. Smock will return to Cornell for the September session.

Monte Marvin, secretary-manager of the New York and New England Apple Institute, spoke briefly at the dinner on promotion and sales campaigns for controlled atmosphere apples. This campaign will begin in March, he said.

Explains New Laws

Spencer Duncan, head of the department of inspectors of the New York State Agriculture and Marketing Department, introduced Joseph Firth, an inspector, who explained new laws, rules and regulations governing controlled atmosphere apples.

Frank Southwick of Massachusetts and Dr. A. B. Burrell of Peru, N. Y., spoke on building of controlled atmosphere storages, and Benjamin Dominick of Cornell on the general outlook of controlled atmosphere apples.

RAYMOND J. MINO

Chairman Named On Mental Health In Ulster County

Newly appointed chairman of the Mental Health Committee of the Ulster County TB and Health Association is Attorney Raymond J. Mino, who served as city judge for eight years.

The appointment was made by Dr. Frederic W. Holcomb Sr., president, at a recent meeting of the board of directors of the TB and Health Association. Attorney Mino succeeds Dr. Edward F. Shea who asked to be relieved of the chairmanship.

In announcing the appointment, Dr. Holcomb said, "we believe Judge Mino is very well fitted for this post. With his back-ground of court work and his knowledge of human relations, the new chairman will prove a worthy successor to the retiring chairman, with whom he has worked very closely on the Mental Health Committee."

Chairman for 10 Years

Dr. Shea has served as chairman of the Mental Health Committee for the past 10 years. He was appointed to the chair when the subcommittee was added to the Ulster County TB and Health Association in 1948. Under his leadership, this committee has been known as one of the most active in New York State. They have carried on a most intensive educational program with teachers, the clergy, hospitals, physicians, and other professional and lay groups.

Hundreds of meetings have been conducted with films, speakers, and panel discussions. Institutes for special and general assemblies were sponsored during these years. The group was also instrumental in helping to bring to the Ulster County Board of Supervisors, information which led to the passage of an Act to create a Mental Health Board for Ulster County. Dr. Shea now heads this official board which will carry on mental health clinic services for Ulster County residents.

Plans Early Meeting

Attorney Mino, the new chairman of the Mental Health Committee of the Ulster County TB and Health Association, will call a meeting of his group soon to map out an educational program in mental health for 1958.

This subcommittee functions as part of the Ulster County TB and Health Association and is financed through Christmas Seals Funds.

Ave Has 6 Points on Migrants

Better Living Is Asked for Camps

ALBANY (AP) — Gov. Harriman today offered a six-point program for improving living conditions at migrant labor camps, which he said were "intolerable" in spots.

In a special message to the Republican-controlled Legislature, the Democratic governor proposed legislation to:

1. Clear up any doubts about the Health Department's power to require camp operators to obtain permits before—instead of after—opening.

2. Empower the State Labor Department to license and regulate camp commissaries in order to prevent over-charging of workers.

Would Revoke Permits

3. Authorize the department to revoke growers' labor permits if they misrepresented conditions to workers they recruit. Only crew leaders' permits may be revoked under current law.

4. Step up the state's program of day-care for workers' children.

5. Expand pilot programs of summer school classes for workers' children.

Asks Payroll Accounts

6. Require crew leaders and camp operators to keep detailed payroll records and to give workers a weekly statement of earnings and deductions.

Harriman's program stemmed from studies made by state agencies and advisory committees following complaints last summer that Negro workers were being

MSGR. MARTIN J. DRURY

Ulster-Sullivan Dean Given New Rank by Pius XII

Another honor for his long and distinguished service as a priest of the Roman Catholic Church has been conferred on the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Martin J. Drury, pastor of St. Mary's Church and dean of Ulster and Sullivan Counties, who yesterday was elevated to the rank of Protonotary Apostolic.

Announcement of the honor, conferred in a Papal Brief by Pope Pius XII in Rome on January 7, was conveyed to Msgr. Drury by His Eminence Francis Cardinal Spellman, archbishop of New York, at a meeting of the Board of Consultors of the archdiocese. Msgr. Drury recently was appointed to the board.

First Century Office

The office of Protonotary Apostolic dates back to the first century when seven notaries were appointed by Pope St. Clement.

Certain privileges of dress and precedence and the limited use of the "Pontificalia" go with the office. The latter privilege is the most striking in that on certain occasions the wearing of the mitre, ring and pectoral cross and other articles of ceremonial dress—usually reserved to the use of a bishop—are prescribed for the Protonotary Apostolic when he pontificates at high Mass.

Dean Since 1937

The Protonotary Apostolic belongs to the highest rank of monsignors and this is the first time that this honor has been conferred on the Deanery of Ulster and Sullivan Counties, which Msgr. Drury has served since he became pastor of St. Mary's Church and dean of the two counties on March 17, 1939.

Msgr. Drury was vested as a Papal Chamberlain with the title of Very Reverend Monsignor on Dec. 8, 1941.

On a similar date in 1947, he was raised to the dignity of Domestic Prelate with the title of Right Reverend Monsignor. Last March he was appointed to the Board of Consultors of the archdiocese.

Long Record of Service

His long and distinguished service to the area in church affairs is paralleled by the distinction with which he has served the community.

Since his appointment as pastor of St. Mary's Church, Msgr. Drury has served as president of the board of directors of Benedictine Hospital, guiding it through two major building campaigns.

He also served as a member of the board of Kingston Laboratory and the Ulster County Board of Health. Msgr. Drury still serves, as he has for many years, as chaplain to the local police department.

Communist Menace Is Stressed

U. S. Pledges Aid In Case of Attack

ANKARA (AP) — The Baghdad Pact powers said today "Communist imperialism" is increasing its efforts to dominate the prized oil-producing Middle East.

In a communique winding up a meeting of ministers, allies and a U. S. team led by Secretary of State Dulles asserted Russia is directing these attempts by exploiting the fear of war, economic distress and regional tension.

Calls for Vigilance

The communique said Communist "infiltration and subversion continue to be a menace and call for constant vigilance and increased solidarity."

The ministers in their four-day meeting expanded the Middle East alliance's military planning staff and heard U. S. pledges of 10 million dollars more in aid and "mobile power in great force" to meet any aggression.

The four Moslem members of the pact—Iraq, Iran, Turkey and Pakistan—did not get what they wanted most: promises of vast aid from Britain, the fifth member of the alliance, and the United States, and an American promise to take up full membership in the alliance.

It remained to be seen whether U. S. Secretary of State Dulles, attending as an "observer" since his government belongs only to the Baghdad group's three subordinate committees, had revitalized the alliance by his presence, personality and promises.

Shaken By Invasion

The two-year-old alliance has been shaken by the British-French invasion of the Suez in late 1956, the recent Soviet diplomatic offensive in the area and belief among Middle East members that they are not getting as much from Britain and the United States as the NATO nations or the "neutrals" of Asia and Africa which the West is trying to woo to its side.

Dulles served public notice at the opening of the conference Monday that the full force of the U. S. 6th Fleet and Strategic Air Force—the only apparent "mobile power" in the area—would answer any call for help against Communist invasion.

Two Warn Moslems

On the economic side, Dulles and British Foreign Minister Selwyn Lloyd warned the Moslems that the West could only put up money for specific projects and could give no blank-check promises. They also pointed out that Western pocketbooks are not bottomless, and that the countries in the area should make greater contributions to development of their own areas from such local resources as the oil of Iran and Iraq.

Slayer of 10 Seized; Own Blood Tricked Him

DOUGLAS, Wyo. — A young gunman sought in a wave of 10 savage killings was run to earth yesterday in the badlands of eastern Wyoming.

Charles Starkweather, 19, and his brunette girl friend, Caril Fugate, 14, were captured after nine persons in Nebraska and one in Wyoming had been slain in a three-day period.

The girl told officers she feared Starkweather, red-haired and wearing rimless glasses, would kill her.

Nicked in Ear

"They wouldn't have caught me if I hadn't stopped," Starkweather snarled as officers hailed him to a jail cell. "If I'd had a gun, I'd have shot them."

Automobile glass shattered by bullets in the wild chase that led to Starkweather's capture nicked the gunman's ear.

Sheriff Earl Heflin said: "It was his own blood that got him. He thought he was shot deader'n hell when he saw that blood."

"He thought he was bleeding to death," the sheriff added. "That's the kind of yellow S.O.B. he is."

Caril's mother, Mrs. Velda Bartlett, 37, was one of the nine persons killed in Nebraska.

To Question Girl

The sheriff said he had a handwritten statement from Starkweather, a statement "about as long as a rope." He wouldn't discuss it further.

He said he planned to get a statement today from the girl.

Converse County Attorney William P. Dixon prepared to file murder charges today against Starkweather, in the death of Merle Collison, 37-year-old shoe salesman from Great Falls, Mont. Collison was shot as he slept in his car near Douglas. An autopsy disclosed nine bullet wounds from a .22 caliber rifle.

First degree murder charges already have been filed against the pair in Nebraska.

Had Empty Rifle

Starkweather had an empty .22 caliber rifle when he was surprised by another motorist standing by Collison's car.

Dixon said that one member of the Converse County board of commissioners at Douglas wanted to turn Starkweather over to Nebraska authorities but that he had not made any decision. He said he would file the charges in any case, and if it was decided to return Starkweather to Nebraska, he could waive Wyoming's claim on him.

Meanwhile, at Lincoln, Neb., Lancaster County Attorney Elmer

Will Seek Raise In Debt Limit to Build New Bridge

A discussion of legislation to remove the New York State Bridge Authority's debt limit of $50 million so that construction of the Newburgh-Beacon Bridge will not be impeded will be held in Albany Tuesday at 3:30 p. m. This will be a second meeting between the Bridge Authority and Hudson Valley legislators.

Chairman John S. Stillman of the Bridge Authority announced that the lifting of the debt limit would allow the sale of bonds necessary for the construction of the Newburgh-Beacon Bridge.

To Discuss Tolls

Also to be discussed is the present legislation requiring equal tolls on all bridges. The Bridge Authority seeks to remove this mandatory requirement and modify it with legislation which allows greater flexibility and proper consideration of all pertinent economic factors.

A third item to be discussed will be the Authority's request that the superintendent of public works present power to approve

J. R. Miller, 64, Succumbs Today; Well Known Here

J. Richard Miller, 64, of 45 Jefferson Avenue, well known local independent insurance adjuster, died in this city today.

The funeral will be held at the A. Carr and Son Funeral Home, 1 Pearl Street, Saturday at 2 p. m. Friends may call at the funeral home from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p. m. on Friday. Burial will be in Rosendale Plains Cemetery.

Surviving are his wife, the former Margaret DuBois; two brothers, Thomas and Edward Miller, and a sister, Mrs. Marie Drew, all of Millburn, N. J.

Was Insurance Adjuster

A resident of this city for the past 29 years, he was president of J. Richard Miller, Inc., insurance adjusters, during that time.

Born in Newark, N. J., Mr. Miller worked for a number of years as an accountant in a brewery there and later in a banking institution, prior to the establishment of his insurance adjusting firm in this city.

By the nature of his business firm, Mr. Miller had gained wide friendships throughout New York State with members of the medical and legal professions and the judiciary, many of whom

Mailman Is Held For Watch Theft

POUGHKEEPSIE (AP)—A veteran mailman—once honored by having a bridge named for him in Vermont — has been accused of stealing a watch from the local post office.

William G. Case, 54, known as "The Whistling Mailman" because of his cheery demeanor—was arrested Tuesday night.

Case waived preliminary examination yesterday when he appeared before U. S. Commissioner John B. Garrity, and was released without bail pending grand jury action.

Case moved from Poughkeepsie to Newburgh about two years ago and commuted to his job.

Case owns Case Mountain, a property which has been in his family since Colonial days, near Readsboro, Vt. Two years ago, Gov. Joseph P. Johnson of Vermont honored Case and his wife for promotion of the community, and the state named a new bridge "Case Bridge" in tribute.

State Must Have Covered System At Falls Project

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Federal Power Commission today granted New York State a final license for construction of a 600 million dollar Niagara Falls power project.

In issuing the license the commission rejected a proposal by the New York State Power Authority for handling diversion of water from the Niagara River.

The commission ordered the state agency to construct a covered conduit system rather than the open canal proposed by the agency.

The commission rejected a request by the town of Lewiston, N. Y., that the area of the storage reservoir be reduced by about 720 acres. The state authority had opposed the Lewiston request.

The FPC issued a conditional license last Sept. 19 and at that time reserved for future determination the type of water conduits to be installed in the area of the reservoir. Hearings on the question were concluded Nov. 27.

The power project will have a capacity of approximately 2,190,000 kilowatts and a net average

Katrine Parley On Consolidation Set for Monday

A discussion of the proposed Greater Kingston Area Consolidation will be held in the Margaret D. Ennis Auditorium of the Lake Katrine School at 8 p. m. Monday, Feb. 3.

A panel composed of members of the board of education of the Lake Katrine School District will lead the discussion.

They are William Burke, president, Norman Hammond, Joseph J. Benjamin, Miss Alice Krom and Robert Ohlson.

Also present to assist in the discussion will be Daniel Morehouse, a member of the consolidation committee and treasurer of the school district, and Edward R. Crosby, principal of the school.

Crosby said in a communication to parents today that the forthcoming vote on consolidation would be the most important event in Ulster County educationally in the past 50 years.

The board emphasizes the importance of the meeting Feb. 3, strongly urging all eligible voters to attend and take part in the discussion. It is explained by board members that the time of the referendum in the 24 outlying school districts is approaching and that the meeting will give residents of the district an opportunity to more thoroughly acquaint themselves with the subject.

All interested persons are cordially invited to attend, whether they are residents of the district or not.

Democrats, GOP Battle For CR Lead in Albany

ALBANY (AP) — A Democratic-Republican battle over which party is the greater champion of civil rights was rejoined today.

Republicans introduced a bill, vetoed last year by Democratic Gov. Harriman, calling for creation of a permanent civil rights bureau in the Law Department, which presently is headed by a Republican.

Harriman says any expansion of state activity in civil rights should be in the State Commission Against Discrimination, which he appoints. The GOP controlled Legislature has refused to provide added funds sought by Harriman for the commission.

Each party has cited the other's stand as evidence of a lack of concern over civil rights.

The new GOP measure would appropriate $100,000 for the proposed bureau.

Sen. Majority Leader Walter J. Mahoney, Assembly Speaker Oswald D. Heck and Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz said in a statement that the bureau could employ the wide resources of the attorney general's office and would keep the anti-discrimination commission informed of its work.

Cites Low Funds

Lefkowitz said he had created a civil rights bureau in his department last Nov. 25 but had funds to operate it only until March 31.

Wallkill Area to Vote On $998,000 Expansion

Voters of Wallkill Central School District No. 1 will vote Friday on a proposed school expansion plan which if approved will cost an estimated $998,000 to be financed on a 20-year bond issue.

The proposal includes plans for a 10 classroom elementary school to be built at Leptondale, a four-room addition to Plattekill School and extensive alterations and additions to Wallkill High School.

Albert Becker, president of the Board of Education, urges all eligible voters in the school district to vote on Friday.

In a brochure distributed to voters in the district, members of the Board of Education have cited the needs for expansion and proposals for building.

They report that "for the past two years it has become increasingly apparent to the Board and the Citizens Educational Advisory Committee, that the birth rate in the school district continues to increase and that new famlies continue to move into the district. Within five years the high school enrollment is certain to increase from the present 482, to approximately 700."

In Sept. 1956, substandard and "temporary" classrooms at the Main Street Annex and the basement of the Plattekill School were put in use, and much more space will be needed each year

Mothers Collect $3,504 in City; $600 Below 1957

Proceeds of the Mother's March on Polio conducted throughout the city Wednesday night totaled $3,504, approximately $600 less than last year, according to Addison Jones, county campaign director. Tabulation for Ulster County areas are not complete.

Jones said that 5 or 6 coin boxes have not been returned as yet and he expects that when the canvass is complete the total will be over $3,600. Some workers are completing the canvass today.

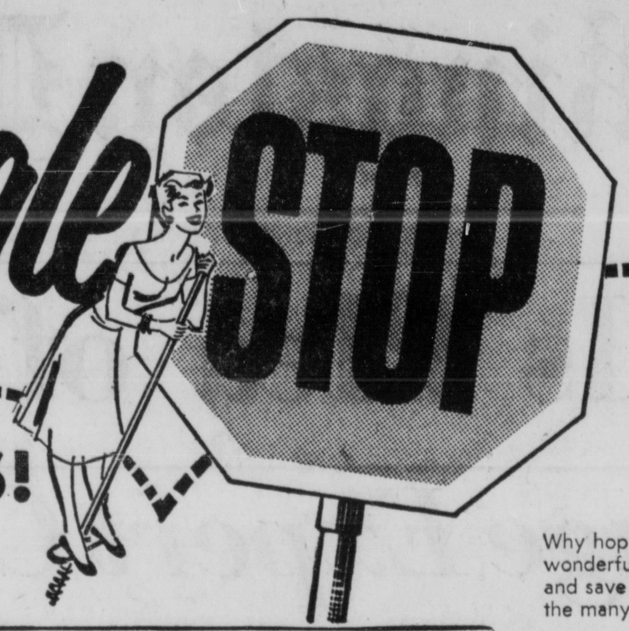

According to Mrs. Frank Jablonski, Mother's March chairman, more than 200 canvassers participated in the city drive last night.

Gross Income Over Billion

1957 Most Successful Year in IBM History

Thomas J. Watson Jr., president of International Business Machines Corporation, in the annual report to the stockholders made public today, noted the firm's gross income in the United States exceeded one billion dollars for the first time and called 1957 the company's "most successful year to date."

He noted that as previously reported IBM's gross income in the U. S. for the first time exceeded one billion dollars — $1,000,431,597, and net income after federal income tax was $89,291,589 or $7.73 a share on 11,552,460 shares outstanding, compared with $68,784,510 or $6.55 a share on 10,502,237 shares for 1956.

Total assets at the year-end also exceeded one billion dollars, aggregating $1,086,969,222 at December 31, 1957, compared with $769,049,451 at the end of the previous year.

Would Take Corp. Report

IBM World Trade Corporation, the wholly-owned subsidiary which handles IBM's business outside the United States, also had its most successful year, Watson told stockholders, with gross income of $202,162,053, compared with $157,670,843 in 1956, and net income of $27,205,855 against $22,459,901 the previous year.

Operations outside the U. S. are not included with the parent company's except to the extent of cash dividends received from IBM World Trade Corporation, which amounted to $6,000,000 in 1957, an increase of 2,000,000 over 1956.

During 1957 IBM's increased volume of business and replacement of obsolete equipment required an investment of $326,336,537 in rental machines and parts, factory and office equipment, and land and buildings, compared with similar expenditures of $208,443,483 in 1956.

57,330 Stockholders

At the year-end, IBM had 57,330 stockholders compared with 31,024 a year earlier. The company had a total of 83,782 employes in its worldwide operation, of which 60,281 were domestic employes and 23,501 IBM World Trade Corp. employes.

This compares with a total of 72,504 worldwide employes at the end of the previous year.

Noting that IBM had continued to expand its research and development functions during 1957, Watson said:

"Increasing emphasis was placed on basic research activities concerned with advanced new principles and materials for incorporation into business and scientific machines of the future."

Furnishes Scientists

In discussing the part which IBM plays in the world race for scientific supremacy, he said that "The company supplies many of the powerful electronic computing systems and related equipment employed by our scientists in most every field of endeavor from basic research to the development of advanced military weapons systems.

"During 1957, IBM commenced deliveries of production models of the IBM 305 RAMAC, which processes business transactions as they flow through an office, and is putting into volume production the more powerful 650 RAMAC.

"Among its new 1957 products were the 709 Electronic Data Processing System, a large-scale digital computer, which handles both business and scientific problems of greatly increased size and complexity, and the 705 111 Electronic Data Processing System, designed specifically to handle large quantities of business data.

On Schedule for SAGE

"Shipment by the Military Products Division of special-purpose electronic computers for the SAGE Continental Air Defense System of the Air Force is proceeding on schedule, as well as production of the Brane Electronic Bombing and Navigation System for intercontinental bombers.

"Other 1957 new products included a new time punch which punches payroll and other labor cost data into IBM cards at the source of operation, and the 610 Auto-Point computer, a desk-side computer which is capable of handling a wide variety of engineering and commercial problems."

During 1957, IBM completed construction of a 410,000 square-foot military products plant and laboratory at Owego; 456,000 additional square feet of manufacturing, laboratory and educational space at San Jose, Calif.; and a 56,000 square-foot supplies plant at Sherman, Texas. A 72,000 square-foot plant near Burlington, Vt. was leased.

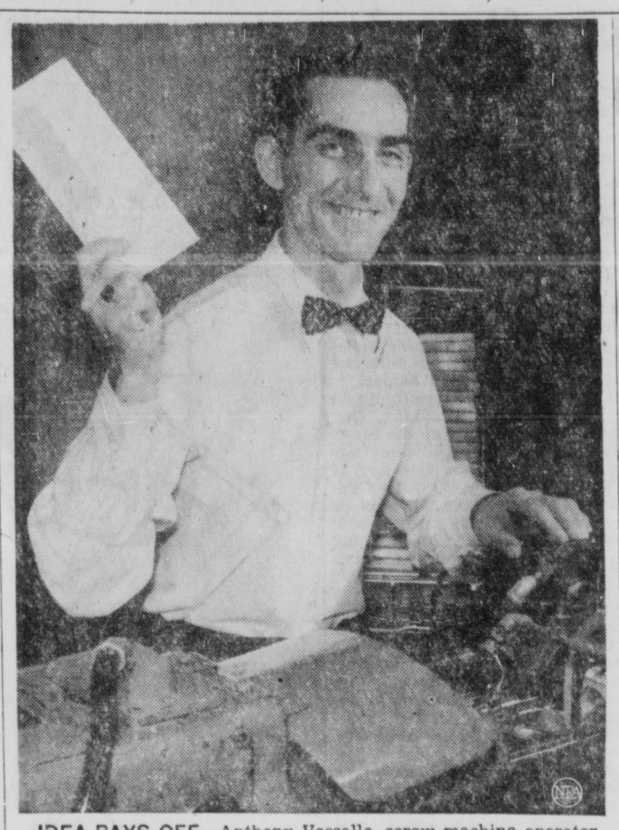

IBM has under construction a new 568,000 square-foot plant including engineering and educational facilities at Rochester, Minn.; school buildings at Endicott and Poughkeepsie of 113,000 and 124,000 square feet, respectively; a 727,000 square-foot plant and laboratory at Lexington, Ky.; a 132,000 square-foot engineering laboratory at Kingston; 158,000 square feet of additional engineering and administration space at Owego, and 50,000 square-foot research laboratory at Yorktown.

Plans have been announced for construction of a 125,000 square-foot supplies plant at Dayton, N. J., and construction has been started of a parts center near Harrisburg, Pa. to be occupied on a lease basis when completed. Land has been purchased near Boulder, Colo., but there are no plans at present for construction on this site.

Cody's Scout Dies

NEW YORK (AP)—Chief Earl Two Bears, a full-blooded Choctaw Indian who has reported to have been the last surviving scout of Col. William F. (Buffalo Bill) Cody, is dead at the age of 87.

The chief, the oldest member of Brooklyn's Indian colony—most of whom are steel workers—died of cancer yesterday in a hospital.

IDEA PAYS OFF—Anthony Vassallo, screw machine operator at the Kodak Apparatus and Optical Division, Rochester, N.Y., happily waves a check for $23,495. It was his reward for an idea he dropped in the company's "suggestion box" showing how a number of production operations could be combined in one machine, resulting in substantial savings. It was the largest award in Kodak's 60-year-old suggestion system and the second largest in American industry.

Republicans Favor Lock Honoring Snell

WASHINGTON (AP) — A proposal that a St. Lawrence Seaway lock be named for former Rep. Bertrand H. Snell (R-NY) stood unanimously approved today by New York's 26-member Republican delegation to the House.

Snell, now 87, resides in Potsdam, N. Y. He was the predecessor of Rep. Martin (R-Mass) as House Republican leader and introduced the first bill to authorize the seaway in 1917.

At a luncheon yesterday the New Yorkers endorsed the renaming of the Grasse River lock of the seaway for Snell. The action was taken at the request of Rep. Kilburn (R-NY), who represents the district formerly served by Snell.

President Eisenhower has promised Martin that he will give consideration to the name change. The other seaway lock is named for Eisenhower.

Big Flats Resident Held on Kidnaping

LEWISBURG, Pa. (AP)—A man from Big Flats, N. Y., was held here yesterday on a charge of kidnapping.

U. S. Commissioner A. Thomas Wilson said Emery Smith, 33, had attempted to force Edward A. Crane, also of Big Flats, to drive him to Florida.

"He was carrying a gun when he entered Crane's car in Big Flats," Wilson said.

Dentist Suffers Sometimes Too

LOS ANGELES (AP)—While taking the pain out of your teeth, your dentist may get an aching back.

Noting this, a UCLA physical education professor, Dr. Laurence Morehouse, and a dentist, Dr. Sanford S. Golden, have set up a dental office to study the profession's stresses.

While working on a dummy patient, the dentist is tested for fatigue clues. His blood pressure, respiration and muscular efforts and tensions are recorded.

Dr. Morehouse said yesterday the research may lead to new dental equipment in which the dentist sits while the patient half reclines on a couch-like chair.

Larkin Is Speaker At Rosendale GOP

Guest speaker at the January meeting of the Rosendale Republican Club held Tuesday evening at Grange Hall was Assistant District Attorney John L. Larkin.

The work of the district attorney's office was discussed, how cases to come before the grand jury originate and how they are presented to that body was explained. Indictments and the final trial of the case was reviewed by Larkin.

President William Anderson presided at the meeting and introduced the guest speaker.

The next meeting of the club will be held on Tuesday evening, February 25.

Iran Has Own Auto Headaches

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The switch from flying carpets to automobiles is causing a big traffic headache in Iran—formerly Persia.

That's the word from Police Captains Habibollah Ardabili and Farhang Afshar-Gordji, who are attending a seminar at the southern police institute here.

They said of Iran's traffic problem:

"Cars everywhere. French cars. German cars. American cars. Italian Cars. Not enough places to park. No subway. Right now it is our biggest problem, bigger than your traffic problem."

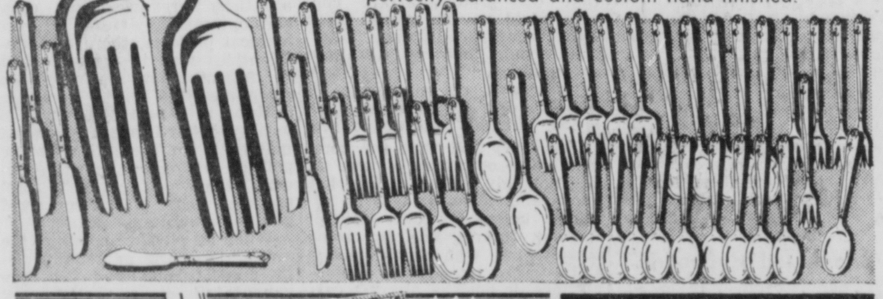

Good Size Handbag

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — A thief snatched a large corduroy handbag from a Louisville woman. Police asked her to submit a description of the bag and its contents.

She did. In full. The list of contents covered four hand-written pages.

FREE THOUGHT AND TYRANNY

In all the hubbub over Soviet achievements in science and education relative to our own, one aspect of the matter hasn't had the attention it probably deserves.

Since the dawn of tyranny, men have been saying that arbitrary government is the enemy of free thought and hence of genuine progress in science and all other fields of education.

What the Russians have accomplished, and are continuing to accomplish, seems to contradict this long-held notion. For it is doubtful if any tyranny in history was more rigid than the Soviet version which now imposes its grip upon millions of square miles of the earth's surface.

In this vast arena of human terror, the expression of ideas is controlled with ruthless efficiency. Departures from the Communist line of the moment are penalized as unforgivable heresy.

Yet within this oppressive atomsphere, the Soviet Union has astonished free men by achieving results in science and technology that the free world has not matched.

How have they managed what so many have said was impossible in a dictatorship?

For one thing, the Soviet Communists do not apply their controls to the realm of the physical sciences now so vital to the creation of new military weapons and materials. In this zone of thought, Russian scientists are free to explore with all the ability and energy at their command.

On top of this, any Russian exhibiting any talent at all for science is exhaustively schooled in its disciplines and kept on the science track no matter what.

We all know now that we don't have enough people in science and some that get into it are sidetracked by the draft or drawn away from pure scientific research into other fields. In the Soviet Union, by the very fact of its dictatorship, there is no such deflection of talent.

It is clear from the events of recent months that among the many things we no longer can take comfort from is the idea that men in the Soviet Union can't think well. Not only can they, but when they demonstrate it their government won't let them do anything else.

The way of compulsion is not for us. But we'd better find some approach which will make our way of freedom produce better results.

After extensive testing the Commerce Department has concluded that popcorn is useless as a cushioning agent for packages. Even if we are lagging behind the Russians in our missile effort, it is good to know that our scientific research is going forward.

UNHEEDED ADVICE

Though there have been improvements in the nation's traffic safety record from time to time, the story is still fundamentally a grim one. And this is so in spite of a heavy barrage of safety appeals.

Information coming to President Eisenhower's traffic safety committee suggests most of these appeals may be bouncing off American motorists. Evidently nearly all of them think safety advice is for the other fellow, that they already are above average or better drivers.

The Opinion Research Corporation, inquiring into motorists' attitudes, found that 93 per cent place themselves in the "safe" category. A bare 2 per cent conceded they might be a bit below average. The rest had no views.

Safety campaigns apparently may have tough sledding until more drivers can be persuaded that they still have something to learn. This may involve better measurement as to what constitutes good driving, and better and more forceful methods of checking drivers against those standards.

Traffic safety funds channeled in this direction might be very well spent.

Without casting reflections on any occupants of the Pentagon it can be said that there is plenty of room there for the shake-up ordered by the President.

Atomic clocks may be placed aboard earth satellites, but the plan thus far does not include alarm clocks for passengers using sleeper accommodations.

Even if the social security fund is in the red it keeps millions of oldsters from feeling blue.

'These Days'

OUR CHANGING TIMES

The new chemistry, electronics, nuclear physics, the reduction of time and space have changed our world. Never before in history have men seen so much happen in so short a time—so much that is fundamental. Many do not have either the knowledge or the understanding to grasp the vast social and economic changes that are the inevitable results of new commodities replacing traditional ones.

The dislocation of cotton, wool, silk, rubber, hemp, by fabrics made in the chemist's test tubes as a result of our greater knowledge of the molecule and its combinations is bound to influence the ways of life of millions of human beings.

Electronics and nuclear physics are only on the verge of being related to everyday life. One day, we shall not only hear the beep of the Sputnik but we shall use neither coal nor water nor petroleum for light, heat and power. One day, it will be possible to slip an atomic pellet into a device to run an automobile or a railroad train or a steel plant or anything. Or we may even be able to use an instrument that will catch and use the rays of the sun to store power as an oak stores life.

We are about to witness the total elimination of space, for if a Sputnik can orbit the earth, there are no limits to what may be done by power and speed and human imagination.

And to all this and more, the social order must respond if man is to survive these changes. For instance, we now know that war is devastating beyond any targets that may be set. That means that the instruments of war are such that their use cannot be limited to the intentions of those who use them. The fall-out of a hydrogen bomb does not take place on the day the bomb is shot. Radio-active strontium, a killer, may remain in the atmosphere for many years and may come down in drops of rain not upon the enemy but anywhere, even upon him who shot the bomb and it could destroy the bones of all animals of the field and of man.

Who dares to use such an instrument of war until a way is found to harness its destructiveness in time and space? And who dares to use many other devices of destruction which, once we discovered the secrets of the alchemists, are now limitless in their combinations by either fission or fusion?

In terms of the social order, the mechanical era has reached its apogee in automation which could, if carried forward logically, make it wholly unnecessary to employ human labor for most tasks of production and distribution. The first results we are beginning to witness in the proletarization of the middle class which is occurring in many parts of the world. In fact, in much of the world, the middle class has already disappeared; only the rulers exist and the ruled.

The elimination of the middle class alters the nature of our society altogether. It makes the manager of a plant an employe and the owner of its capital so remote from a business as to have no direct interest in it but to be concerned only with the net returns on an investment, the shares to be bought and sold without an emotion, for wherein does four per cent here differ from four per cent there?

In fact, so remote does ownership become that it is actually no difference as to whether an enterprise is privately-owned or publicly-owned, which explains why even in the United States there is no effective organ left to defend the capitalist system per se. Those who speak up for what they call "private enterprise" generally have foggy notions as to what they believe; they are only too often of the managerial class who own no enterprise themselves and would rather split the spoils with such a one as Walter Reuther than suffer the wrath of the stockholders should the four per cent not be forthcoming over a principle. Few are willing to die for a principle these days or even to risk losing a job.

It is a new era which needs to be studied closely as it moves along its destiny to fulfill.

Smallpox, Long a Deadly Plague, Still Has Danger

BY EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.
Written for NEA Service

According to a World Health Organization committee report, no less than 18 countries were infected with smallpox by international travelers in 1956. As a result eight countries suffered epidemics of this disease.

Therefore, the committee warned against any relaxation of vaccination measures against smallpox and called for use of potent vaccines as well as correct vaccination procedures.

Furthermore, the need was stressed for medical and other personnel who come in contact with travelers to maintain a high level of immunity against smallpox by repeated vaccination. In the course of these epidemics, some doctors treating tourists caught the infection and died.

For hundreds of years smallpox was a scourge of mankind throughout most of the world. At one time it was more common than measles.

During the 18th century nearly everyone contracted smallpox before reaching maturity. More than half a million persons died every year; during that century alone 60 million persons were lost as a result of smallpox.

THE FIGHT against this terrible disease took a turn for the better in 1718 when Lady Mary Wortley Montagu introduced into England the practice of inoculation.

This was simply taking material from a pock or postule of a person suffering with the disease and scratching it on the skin of anyone who had never had smallpox. This produced the disease in the inoculated person, but it was usually less severe and caused less scarring than if the disease had been caught in the usual way.

Up to that time mothers of large families could usually assume that several of their children would die of smallpox.

ABOUT 1796 Edward Jenner, a country practitioner and son of a clergyman in England, made his famous experiments on the boy, James Phipps.

Jenner noticed that the milkmaids of the district in which he lived did not seem to get smallpox even when almost all others in the community came down with the disease.

He pondered this fact, observing that most of the milkmaids had small scars on their hands as a result of a mild disease called cowpox present on the udders of cows. Finally, on a farm close to his home there was an outbreak of cowpox.

One of the milkmaids, Sarah Nehlnes, was infected and, with pus taken from a pustule on her hand, Jenner inoculated James Phipps. This boy developed the usual change on the skin which is characteristic of what we now call vaccination.

Six weeks later Jenner inoculated young James with pus from a patient with smallpox and sat down to wait. The vaccination "took" and later the boy proved resistant to smallpox. It was in this way that modern vaccination was born.

Perils of the Space Congress

Washington News

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — There is more joy around the Republican National Committee headquarters today than there has been for over a year.

The cause is a delayed reaction that has just set in to the speech which the assistant to the President, Sherman Adams, made to the United Republican dinner at Minneapolis, Minn.

In it the former New Hampshire governor blamed the Democrats for every U. S. disaster from the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor in 1941 to the congressional cut of over two billion dollars from President Eisenhower's defense budget of 1957.

GOP strategists now hail this as the only type of political campaigning which will give them a chance in 1958.

Both the Senate and House Republican campaign committees are ordering copies of Governor Adams's speech, reprinted from the Congressional Record, for use as a major campaign document.

PERHAPS THE MOST SURPRISING thing about this is that it has moved Governor Adams from the GOP doghouse to a hero's pedestal.

Republican congressmen in the past have made no secret of the fact that they did not like Governor Adams. He is blamed for making it too hard for Republican congressmen to see the President. He has run the White House in a high-handed manner.

He has put the political squeeze on many GOP congressmen to go along on President Eisenhower's legislative program, against their will and better judgment. He has made a lot of enemies among the GOP old guard. In short, nobody has ever nominated him as one of the 10 most popular Republicans in town.

But a couple of nights after he got back from Minneapolis, Gov. Adams got a rousing reception from a group of GOP congressmen. They gave him the "good old Sherm" treatment, slapped him on the back, told him his speech was the best thing that had happened in a year. It put the party back on Page One.

TO UNDERSTAND this enthusiasm, it has to be remembered that the GOP is still having the worst year it has had in the last five.

Its tragedies include not only the President's illnesses, but Little Rock, Sputniks I and II, and former Treasury Secretary George Humphrey's "hair curling" depression statement of a year ago.

This was followed by the congressional economy revolt, the business decline, the rise in unemployment and cost of living, the stock market decline at the end of the year.

Until the Adams speech came along, the Republicans have had nothing to cheer about.

PRESIDENT EISENHOWER'S high level approach at Chicago made the party recognize that the President will not be so much of a factor in 1958 elections.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon, who used to be regarded as the GOP's number one curly-haired hatchet man, didn't live up to this reputation in his speech at New York.

First reaction to all these speeches was to point out that while the President at Chicago had said national defense questions should be taken out of politics, Adams had put national defense back in politics and made it the number one issue.

There was some criticism of the moral or ethical rightness of the assistant to the President daring to differ with his chief. GOP's practical politicians, who have to win elections, took this argument and promptly tossed it into the ash can.

This leaves Governor Adams in the position of being the Republican counterpart of Democratic ex-President Harry S. Truman as a man who can wage a "give 'em Hell" campaign. It's just what the GOP has been looking for, to put it back on the offensive.

Congress Inquiries Blamed In Many Pentagon Delays

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — The American people have been hearing a lot lately about "a single chief of staff" for the armed forces and a "reorganization of the Pentagon" so as to eliminate what is called "inter-service rivalries."

Yet few people know the background of the controversy and the hidden issues debated in the Pentagon — the five-sided building where thousands of officers of all the armed services perform their daily functions.

There is really nothing wrong with the "Pentagon" that a little information from Soviet Russia wouldn't cure, as, for instance, exactly when the next war will break out and where and what kind of war it will be —that is, "local" or "limited" or "global."

Army Balked at Plan

Fundamentally, the main discussions here during the last decade have been concerned with the question of what strategy would be predominant if any kind of war came. Just after World War II ended, many of those who have argued that the concept of air power is above all else in importance urged a single chief of all the armed services. They felt that naturally he would have to be an air man and could blend the operations of the other services into a single-service idea.

But the Army, which for a long time had been theoretically in favor of a single chief and a general staff, balked at having its tactical air force, for example, taken away from ground troops and insisted also that the ground-warfare concept could not be shoved aside altogether especially since "local" wars could not be dismissed as unlikely. There was talk of making a separate service of the Strategic Air Force as a solution, but this was abandoned.

The Navy felt that the command and operation of war at sea, not only on the surface but above and below, had to be retained under its own control without interference by some single chief who didn't understand sea techniques — submarines or floating aircraft carriers. A whole science of naval warfare in support of ground and air combat, as happened in Korea, could not be discarded.

Fourth Unit Added

Congress compromised in 1947. A separate Air Force was created and, instead of two armed services, there now are three. Likewise, to the three military departments, a fourth—the Defense Department, with its immense superstructure of civilians —was added. Predictions were made at the time that "unification" of this kind would not work, but it has taken a decade of actual experience to find that out. Now a healthy discussion of remedies is, of course, in order.

In peace-time the main task of the defense department is to buy "hardware." The question always is how much to buy and how fast to get it made. There is no lack of decision power. Sometimes it takes a little longer to reach a decision than the defense chiefs like, but that's because it's customary to give every one a chance to be heard, whether civilian or military.

Some of the responsibility for the delay in putting decisions into effect must be laid on the doorstep of Congress. Under our system, there is an avenue of appeal to Congress, and military men have their friends on Capitol Hill to whom they pour out their troubles and apprehensions. The result is investigation after investigation which often means delay in putting into effect decisions already made by the proper officials in the executive branch of the government.

It cannot be overlooked also that, since a vast number of dollars—billions and billions — are involved, this means different defense contractors in private industry have their own ideas. They, too, have friends in Congress. Similarly, Senators and Representatives are "briefed" privately by officers or civilians from back home, where huge military installations or employment in plants have their impact on local business conditions and on continuing prosperity in a given area.

The public knows little about all these pressures and, even eliminating any natural interest in local projects, there are conscientious men in Congress and in the armament business who sometimes feel that a Pentagon decision in a particular thing is wrong or that it is being delayed unduly. Then there is domestic politics arising out of the economy issue which leaves its fatal mark on many a well conceived plan of a military nature.

When all is said and done, the military are the only truly disinterested group, and yet they cannot tell how soon they will need the weapons being made for them. If they knew a certain purchase would not be needed for six years, they could advocate the acceleration of something else that they needed this year or next. But this turns on what kind of war will have to be fought, and when it will break out.

Rearrangement Likely

The President already has a group of military advisers, but the joint Chiefs of Staff are too far away from him. Gen. Taylor, chief of staff of the Army, said recently in a public speech that there are nineteen civilians between him and the President. It seems certain now that a rearrangement of the whole advisory system will be recommended to President Eisenhower by Secretary of Defense McElroy so as to promote efficiency and accelerate the consultation process. But the power of decision in planning war operations cannot be vested in Congress or in a single chief of the armed services themselves. It must remain in the commander-in-chief, the President of the United States, as it always has been under the American Constitution.

Leaves From Boyle's Notebook

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Sidewalk scrawls of a pavement Plato:

Victorian England saw the rise of societies for the alleviation of the poor. What is needed in 20th century America today is a society for the amelioration of the millionaire.

For the millionaire, once the symbol of wealth, might and the wastrel life, has fallen upon sad times. Now he is more to be pitied than censured.

Reason Is Simple

The reason is simple: Money being what it is today, a simple millionaire no longer can afford to make much of a splash. He is no longer really rich, merely well-to-do, living on the plush side of poverty, so to speak.

Many a prisoner of the paycheck sighs, "I don't want to be a millionaire—I just want to live like one."

Well, a millionaire feels exactly the same way. He'd like to live like a millionaire is supposed to himself, but he knows he hasn't enough money.

Many people who envy a millionaire do not realize his true plight. He is like a man who stands on the doorstep of Valhalla, hearing the music and singing, but who can't quite get inside. He is like a colonel in the Pentagon. He has considerable rank, but not enough, for there are many colonels in the Pentagon.

Has Only Reputation

A man with only one million dollars is really a pitiable figure, when you get right down to it. He has the reputation of being rich, but none of the pleasure that goes with really being rich.

Just how rich is this gilded pauper—a guy with only one million bucks to his name? Well, let's see.

Suppose he wants to conserve his capital and live off his income. What can he do? To begin with, he invests it in state or municipal government bonds (to avoid income taxes) at 3 per cent. That means his income will be a mere $30,000 a year.

That sounds like a lot of money to the ordinary breadwinner, and it is—to him. But if you want to live like a millionaire it is pretty small potatoes.

Should Have Lots

Shouldn't a millionaire have a place in Palm Beach, a penthouse on Park Avenue, and a summer home at Newport or Bar Harbor?

Shouldn't a millionaire have a yacht and a Rolls-Royce?

Shouldn't a millionaire have a chauffeur, a butler, a gardener, a cook, a maid, a housekeeper and at least one secretary?

Shouldn't a millionaire be able to travel abroad every year?

Shouldn't a millionaire be able to play the playboy, and toss occasional gifts of diamond bracelets and mink coats to chorus girls?

He should, indeed, be able to do all these things—if he could afford to live up to the public's idea of a millionaire.

But if he did his million bucks wouldn't last him long—not at today's prices.

No, a millionaire no longer can afford to live like a millionaire. It takes a multimillionaire to do that, and the way things are going it soon will take a multi-millionaire.

Along Capitol Corridors

By CHARLES DUMAS

ALBANY (AP)—Republican fiscal experts in the Legislature are pondering a tantalizing question—how far can they go in tearing apart Gov. Harriman's budget?

Not a few of the GOP hands are itching to try a general overhaul of the $1,800,800,000 spending program. But can they?

What intrigues them is a conviction that the Democratic governor has drastically underestimated the amount of tax revenue he will get in the new fiscal year—by many millions.

If this is so, and expected income could be adjusted upward, then the state would not have to dip so heavily into reserve funds to balance the budget and—.

Well, there are all kinds of possibilities. For one, the GOP majorities might be able to head off the 43-million-dollar income tax boost Harriman demands.

Republicans Gleam

The prospect of such a coup in this major election year brings a gleam to the eyes of Republican political strategists.

Here's the problem in a nutshell:

Under the state Constitution, it is the governor's job to draw up the budget. He must tell the Legislature how much he expects to take in and how much he plans to spend.

On Tax Estimates

The Constitution says the Legislature can cut or add to his spending proposals—which it has done in the past. But it says nothing about altering his income estimates.

In his new budget, Harriman estimated tax collections would total $1,521,000,000, up $67,500,000 from the current fiscal year. To balance his budget, he assigned income from the war bonus account and drew heavily on bond monies and construction reserves.

GOP fiscal experts claim it's relatively easy to estimate tax receipts since most taxes are levied on last year's income or business.

Harriman looked for only 67½ million more—even though he proposed to wipe out the re-million tax abatement. If he kept the abatement, he would be getting only 24½ million more.

Republicans says this is far too conservative. They point out that, despite a slump at the end, 1957 was the best business year ever in this country. Personal income alone climbed 5 per cent over 1956.

Millions Off, They Say

At this stage, they will not be pinned down to a figure but, under pressure, say Harriman's estimate must be 20 million off at the very least and possibly much more.

Taking it from there:

If the Legislature could jack up Harriman's income estimate enough, it could argue there was room to continue the tax abatement and send him a hold-the-line bill. Or it could trim the amount he wants to take from reserve funds. This, too, would look good politically.

Why would Harriman underestimate revenues?

The GOP money men are not sure. One guessed that the governor wanted to keep the budget so tight that the Republicans would have little margin for political jockeying.

Last year a total of 3,033,147 people were X-rayed for tuberculosis in Canadian hospitals, says Dr. George J. Wherrett of the Canadian Tuberculosis Assn. There was "no danger from radiation involved," he said.

Exam Exemptions Are Listed for Rondout School

Roland A. Riegel, high school principal of the Rondout Valley Central School, today released the names of students in grades 7 through 12 who qualified for exemptions from mid-term examinations.

Cherries and Gelatin Make Gay Valentines' Day Dessert

BY GAYNOR MADDOX,
NEA Food and Markets Editor

Bright red against snowy white, these cherry valentines make a beautiful party dessert. They are made with tart red cherries and a light creamy gelatin dessert base served in baked tart shells or crystal clear sherbet glasses.

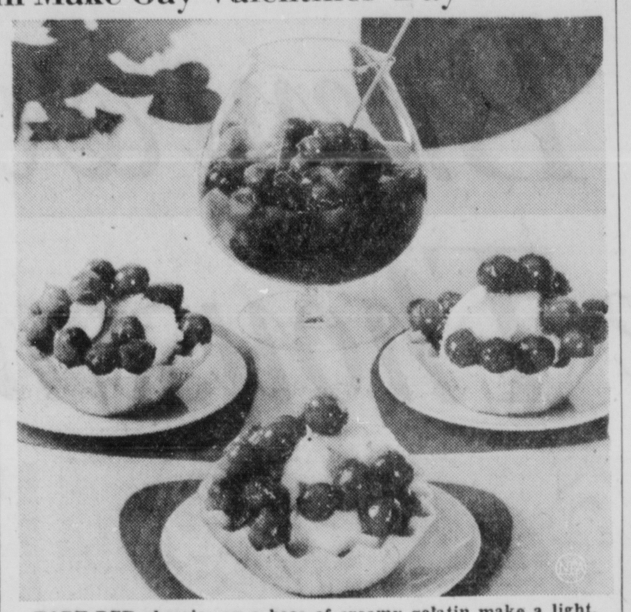

Cherry Valentine Dessert
(Yield: 6-8 servings)

One envelope unflavored gelatin, ¾ cup cold water, ¾ cup sugar, ¼ teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon grated lime or lemon rind, ¼ cup lime or lemon juice, 2 unbeaten egg whites, ½ cup heavy cream, whipped.

Sprinkle gelatin on cold water in top of double boiler to soften. Place of boiling water and stir until gelatin is dissolved. Remove from heat. Add sugar, salt, lime or lemon rind, lime or lemon juice; stir until sugar is dissolved. Chill until consistency of unbeaten egg white. (To chill quickly, half fill lower part of double boiler with ice cubes and water; sprinkle with 2 tablespoons salt. Set upper part of double boiler with gelatin mixture over ice water; chill until mixture is the consistency of unbeaten egg white, stirring frequently.) Add egg whites; beat with electric or rotary beater until mixture begins to hold its shape. Fold in heavy cream. Turn into a 6-cup mold or spoon into dessert dishes or tart shells. Serve with Cherry Sauce.

Cherry Sauce

One-half cup sugar, 4 teaspoons cornstarch, ¼ teaspoon salt, 1 can (1 pound) red sour pitted cherries (water pack), ½ cup water, 1½ teaspoons lemon juice, ¼ teaspoon brandy or almond flavoring, ¼ teaspoon red food coloring.

TART RED cherries on a base of creamy gelatin make a light, delicious valentine dessert and a fitting tribute to Cupid.

Combine sugar, cornstarch and salt in a saucepan. Drain cherries; stir cherry liquid and water into dry ingredients. Cook, stirring constantly, until mixture comes to a boil. Boil ½ minute. Remove from heat; add cherries, lemon juice, brandy flavoring and red food coloring. Cool.

Note: Two tablespoons brandy may be substituted for part of the water. Omit brandy flavoring.

Koerner Resigns As Principal of Castleton School

George Koerner, principal of the Castleton Elementary School in the Schodack Central School District near Albany has submitted his resignation to the board of education of that district, it was learned today.

Koerner, a former principal of St. Remy School, said in submitting a letter of resignation that he recognized there was a conflict of personalities and policy with regard to the administration of the school, that he was interested in clarifying conditions and insisted that his resignation be accepted.

The board of education is expected to act on the resignation at a meeting Friday.

Do You Remember by Sophie Miller

Edward Hauprich Sr., of 25 Browning Terrace sent an item from The Albany Knickerbocker News of Jan. 14 called "In This Corner" with Charles Mooney.

In Mooney's Memory Lane notes following: "Miss Sophie Miller, author of the reminiscing column, "Do You Remember?" in Kingston Freeman, commenting on the oldtime steamboat excursion to Kingston Point, wrote: "Today the Point Park is a jungle." Edward Hauprich Sr., formerly of Albany, now of Kingston, commented: "It sure is." The familiar waiting pavilions were destroyed by fire some years ago. The old Hudson River Day Line office building is still in use. It's of Dutch architecture. Mr. Elmendorf, an Albany resident was the agent for many years."

* * *

When I read items on various other cities, I often think, how a Kingston Point Marine Museum would have attracted feature writers and photographers to our park. Perhaps if Col. Gordon Reel was still in charge of it, or someone else as competent who believed in spending dollars where others believed in pinching pennies the park would have held its own. Kingston Point Park was the dream park of the Hudson and Reel kept it that way in his time. If the famous Mary Powell, which still gets space in various boating magazines was there on display, as well as old Norwich, the Skillyput and other sidewheelers whose last resting place was this area, the park might have been turned into a famous boat basin and present day resort to attract endless goodwill publicity and moneyspending visitors, summer and winter.

Harry Rigby Jr. received an interesting letter from the Rev. George D. Wood, pastor of Rochester Reformed Church of Accord, which reads in part: "The Kingston Daily Freeman recently had an article concerning the names and origins of the streets of Kingston. This has attracted my attention to several names."

The Rev. Mr. Wood continues: "As a boy I lived on Foxhall Avenue near the foot of Garden Street and I recall that both Wynkoop and Reynolds Streets were named after the families who built the Church of the Comforter. I believe the interested families were Henrietta Wynkoop and Sarah Reynolds. Stanley Street used to be a vacant lot and was used for various purposes until the area was developed and houses built.

My father, James R. Wood, was instrumental in this work and had the name Stanley given the street in memory of my deceased brother. Wood Street seems to have had no connection with our family name. Tubby Street, I believe, was named after the family that used to live on it. Perhaps they were the first to have a home there. This may or may not be of interest or assistance to you, but on the other hand, it may add a little, to the great amount of information you now have."

Information, as you see is still coming in on the streets. It is interesting to learn the reason for the names of many of the streets. Rigby started the project and has given it much time and thought and the readers have sent or phoned information which otherwise would have been lost to posterity.

Albany Is Favored For War Memorial

ALBANY (AP)—Albany is favored as the site of a state war memorial building but the final decision will be left to a fund-raising committee.

The state's War Memorial Authority said yesterday it learned to the capital city for the site of the planned three-story building, which will cost between 2½ and 3 million dollars.

The authority added, however, that it was leaving the site up to a fund-raising committee to be appointed by Gov. Harriman, who also favors building the memorial here.

The authority announced that Ogden J. Ross, a Troy banker, had been elected chairman of the 10-member agency.

Hearing on Senecas' Injunction Feb. 17th

WASHINGTON (AP)—A hearing on the Seneca Indians' injunction to halt construction of a 10-million-dollar dam at Kinzua, Pa., will be held Feb. 17 in U. S. District Court here.

The name of the judge for the case, listed as a civil non-jury trial yesterday, was not announced.

The Senecas oppose construction of the dam because it would flood a portion of their reservation. They hold that a 1794 treaty guaranteed they never would be disturbed by the federal government in their reservation home.

Happy Times

Civic Council Helps Our Senior Citizens

"What specific jobs should a Senior Center do?" asks the chairman of a community committee organized to help elder citizens.

Each town must assess the needs of its senior citizens as it sees them, and then seek to fill the needs. Generally, the needs are: 1. Friendship and companionship. 2. Money and employment. 3. Recognition and accomplishment.

A fine example of community achievement is the Senior Council of Cleveland, Ohio, one of the cities leading the way in helping senior citizens. Among recent council activities were these:

1. Helping retired people find the sort of part or full-time employment they want. (An Individual Counseling Committee of seven members works with employment applicants.)

2. Providing assistnce to organizations and individuals for a retired person to teach mathematics at a school; a retired business man with cost and production experience to head a manufacturer's cost department; a retired executive to serve merchandising firms by calling on local manufacturers; and a banking expert, among many others.

3. Cooperating with the Central Volunteer Program of Cleveland to provide volunteers for church and community service.

4. Sending representatives to civic organizations (such as Rotary Club, Citizers' League, Welfare Federation and the Metro, Inc., Committee) to develop a closer relationship between these groups and the Senior Council.

5. Appointing Council members to act as discussion leaders at pre-retirement conferences to aid small businesses which cannot afford professional counsel.

Q—"My father-in-law lives with us and is growing feeble. I have to help him dress in the morning. He cannot be left alone during the day and I must always plan for someone to be home with him. Can you recommend any good homes where we might send him?"—G. C.

A—Yes, yours. He needs the loving care only his family can give. Unless it is his own expressed desire to enter a home, be patient. You'll be glad you were.

Uninsured Cars Are Involved in 129 State Mishaps

Only 129 accidents involving uninsured motor vehicles registered in New York were reported to the Bureau of Motor Vehicles during the 11 months of 1957 under the State's new compulsory automobile liability insurance law, Motor Vehicle Commissioner Joseph P. Kelly reported today. (The law went into effect Feb. 1, 1957.)

The accidents occurred after lapse or cancellation of insurance and either before the Bureau received notice of the coverage termination or before the vehicle was gotten off the road through revocation of registration plates.

Licenses Revoked

As a result of the 129 accidents, registration plates and driver licenses of 163 individuals were revoked for one year. (The 163 includes drivers as well as owners of the involved vehicles.)

On a comparable basis, the Bureau in the same period of 1956 (Feb. 1-Dec. 31) under the old safety-responsibility law—before compulsory insurance—issued 69,912 registration and license suspensions against New York residents as a result of uninsured accidents.

"The first 11 months' experience under the new law has decisively demonstrated that, so far as New York-registered vehicles are concerned, our compulsory insurance law has practically eliminated uninsured accidents," said Commissioner Kelly. "It is clear that the present law has already achieved its every major objective."

Commissioner Kelly said that good as the present law is, "it is not enough."

Close the Gap

"We now need to close the remaining gaps as to out-of-state vehicles, hit-run accidents and stolen cars," he added.

As to out-of-state vehicles, for example, the report shows that in 11 months of 1957 the Bureau revoked non-resident privileges of 32,751 out-of-staters who were involved in motor vehicle accidents in New York and who were presumed to be uninsured at the time. In 11,365 of these cases, the revocations were later rescinded when proof of insurance coverage meeting New York requirements was submitted.

Commissioner Kelly announced these other actions of the Bureau under compulsory insurance in the past 11 months:

Registrations of 232,356 vehicles were revoked for 30 days because of apparent lapses in insurance coverage but 96,507 of these revocations were later rescinded when it was established that the vehicle was in fact insured.

Tardy Filing

In upwards of 95 per cent of the 96,507 cases, where the revocation orders need not have been issued, Commissioner Kelly said insurance companies or agents were tardy in filing with the Bureau proof of new insurance coverage where the vehicle owner switched from one carrier to another.

During the 11 months, the Bureau received 869,195 notices of termination of insurance coverage but most of these were cancelled out by matching new certificates of insurance.

In the same 11 months, 157,696 motor vehicle owners avoided revocation of registration by voluntarily surrendering plates and registration certificates to the Bureau before insurance coverage ceased.

Plattekill

PLATTEKILL — Word has been received here of the death of William G. Minard Sr., 74, who died Jan. 21 at his home in Clintondale, from a heart attack. A retired fruit grower, Mr. Minard had lived in Clintondale over a period of years. He was born in Plattekill, the son of the late John B. and Laura Terwilliger Minard, being one of five sons; Daniel, William, J. Arthur, E. Burdette and Leander Minard. Mr. Minard is survived by a brother, E. Burdette Minard of Clintondale; two sons, Russell and William Minard of Clintondale; eight grandchildren and five great-grandchildren. Funeral services were conducted at the Sutton Funeral Home in Clintondale Thursday afternoon in charge of the Rev. Jesse Stanfield of Clintondale and burial in the Lloyd Cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Arrasate, who were married Sunday, Jan. 19 in the Plattekill Methodist Church, are residing on the Methodist Church Road.

Donald W. Baxter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Augustus Baxter of this locality, is employed at a lumber company in Columbia, S. C., where he has lived during the past 11 years.

Pvt. John Gusofsky, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Gusofsky, of the Tuckers Corners Road, is stationed with the U. S. Army in Germany. He left the United States in Sept. 1957. Pvt. Gusofsky, an automotive repairman, is a member of the 984th Engineer Co.

The Plattekill Firemen will sponsor a fish and chips supper Saturday, Feb. 22, at the firehouse, starting at 6 p. m.

To Release Documents

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The government has decided to let down all the bars and release for immediate public use more than 50,000 Russian scientific documents a year, an authoritative source revealed here today.

Every agency in the government which now translates such Soviet literature has agreed to take part in the plan, he said.

"No longer will the documents be stamped 'secret' and left to gather dust in the files," he said. "From now on, all this important scientific material is going to be distributed to the nation's scientists just as fast as it can be handled."

CINCINNATI (AP) — Walter Goforth should have stayed in bed. Goforth told police he broke his leg while trying to capture a bird that flew into his bedroom during the night.

Quality Control Group To Meet on Tuesday

The Mid-Hudson Section of the American Society for Quality Control will hold its next meeting at the Anchor Inn, Poughkeepsie, starting at 7 p. m. on Tuesday, Feb. 4.

Dr. Ralph H. Bacon will be the guest speaker. His subject, will be "Runs or Sequences in Correlated Data." Dr. Bacon is a member of the Senior Staff at the General Precision Laboratory in Pleasantville.

He will explain how the errors in successive readings of instruments such as clocks or automobile odometers are not independent but are correlated with the coefficient decaying exponentially with the interval between readings. A striking feature of such data is the number of sequences of errors all having the same indication. The method of calculating the probability of these sequences will be outlined.

Reservations for the dinner may be made by contacting Paul Bassett of IBM, Kingston.

Spaak Will Enter Troop Pay Quarrel

BONN, Germany (AP)—NATO Secretary General Paul-Henri Spaak reportedly is going to intervene in the quarrel between West Germany and other NATO partners over German payments for troops stationed in Germany.

Spaak is making a quick visit to Bonn Saturday to confer with Foreign Minister Heinrich Von Brentano, Defense Minister Franz Josef Strauss and Finance Minister Franz Etzel. Informed sources said the date with Etzel means Spaak is going to talk about the dispute over support costs for the allied troops, which West Germany no longer wants to pay.

There was speculation that Spaak would bring along a compromise proposal that would dress up the payments as a German financial contribution to NATO as a whole rather than to the individual nations whose troops are on German soil.

Britain, France and the United States have claims for support costs outstanding. Britain and France have taken the issue to the NATO Council.

They argue that the troops are there because the Germans are unable to defend themselves, and the Germans therefore should pay to make up for German deficiencies in men and weapons.

The Bonn government has countered with the claim that the build up of the German forces is going ahead so fast there is no money to spare for allied needs.

Paltz Jaycees Appoint Survey Committee Head

Eldon S. Johnson was named chairman of the newly-formed Community Development Survey and Action Committee at a recent meeting of the New Paltz Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The committee will conduct a survey of New Paltz and surrounding area to determine where community services can be added or improved.

The March of Dimes Committee, John Carter, chairman, Philip Rappleyea, Richard Yanz and James Ashton, reported that donation boxes have been placed in numerous locations around New Paltz and that contribution envelopes have been sent out.

Final preparations were made for the Sports Almanac. Eight members were assigned to carry out the project.

A new member, John Center, was officially installed and several prospective members were welcomed.

Pending final arrangements, it was voted to hold all future meetings at the VFW.

An information orientation program followed the meeting.

Insurance Firms Go To Court

NEW YORK (AP) — Insurance companies went to court yesterday to try to get the 10 per cent increase in automobile liability rates refused by the state superintendent of insurance.

The National Bureau of Casualty Underwriters and the Mutual Insurance Rating Bureau, representing respectively the stock and mutual companies that write auto insurance in the state, obtained orders in Albany requiring Supt. Leffert Holz to show cause why his refusal to grant increases should not be set aside.

Copies of the orders signed by Supreme Court Justice Roscoe V. Elsworth were served on deputy Supt. Raymond Harris in Albany, one of the bureau's lawyers, John Walsh, said today.

Walsh said the orders are returnable Feb. 7 in the State Supreme Court at Kingston but that he expected to arrange an agreement with the attorney general to transfer the case direct to the third appellate division in Albany before that date.

The insurance companies claim they paid out $1.10 for every $1 they took in during 1956 and that the underwriting loss for last year, when calculated, will be far greater.

J. R. Miller, 64,

Honored by Friends

His friends and associates paid tribute to him in appreciation of his work in the insurance adjustment field.

Speakers included Federal Judge John M. Cashin, Miss Angela Parisi, chairman of the Workmen's Compensation Board; Supreme Court Justice Roscoe V. Elsworth and Harry E. Schirick, County Judge Louis G. Bruhn, Surrogate Judge Charles H. Gaffney and Attorney N. LeVan Haver.

Mr. and Mrs. Miller were probably one of the most widely travelled couples in the city, having visited many of the countries in the world.

Mr. Miller's love for travel was superseded only by his interest in sports. He was a familiar figure at many local sports events and at national athletic events such as championship boxing bouts, baseball and football games.

Twaalfskill Champion

His interest in sports stemmed from his own active participation. An outstanding golfer in the pre-war period, Mr. Miller won the Twaalfskill Club championship in 1941 and was runner-up in several tournaments.

He captured a flock of events and was a prominent competitor in the Hudson River Golf Association tournaments when Twaalfskill was associated with that organization.

In recent years his golf activities were sharply curtailed, but he was an avid fan and followed all the major tournaments.

Mr. Miller also attained a high degree of skill as a bowler and was listed among the name bowlers of the community before he quit the game several years ago.

Stone Ridge

Showdown Faces Congress Over Space Authority

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress appears headed toward a showdown battle over civilian vs military control of outer space experiments.

A decision by Secretary of Defense McElroy to set up a Pentagon advanced research projects agency (ARPA) brought open opposition today to over-all military direction of space developments.

McElroy said yesterday the ARPA, which is to work on anti-missile and outer space projects, will be officially set up "in a day or two." He said he wants it in existence before funds are voted for it.

Action Not Final

While they did not immediately challenge McElroy's decision, Chairman Russell (D-Ga) and other members of the Senate Armed Services Committee said the secretary's action is not going to be accepted by them as any final determination of who will supervise the race to space.

"This is a matter on which Congress must have full information," Russell said. "This is too vital a matter to be disposed of by some administrative order."

Russell said he had not made up his mind about the kind of agency that ought to handle space developments. But he said he is opposed to putting direction of the program in the hands of the Atomic Energy Commission as Sens. Anderson (D-NM) and Gore (D-Tenn) have proposed. They too have opposed military control.

Anderson heads a subcommittee of the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee which already is concerning itself with proposals for atomic propulsion of outer space vehicles.

Proposes Separate Role

Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn) proposed a separate Cabinet-level department, saying "the peaceful conquest of space is highly important and must not be overshadowed by military projects."

He said he does not object to temporary assignment of space projects to the military agency but said he wants civilian control assured in any permanent setup.

McElroy has contended he already has sufficient authority to establish the ARPA. Some question of that was raised in House debate, however, and the House voted specific authorization to establish the agency while at the same time prescribing limits on its operation.

The House amendment was included in a bill it later passed to authorize dispersal of Strategic Air Command bases, work on missile submarines, construction of missile detection and alerting facilities and other parts of an emergency defense program asked by President Eisenhower. The House bill comes before the Senate today.

Russell said his committee had stripped the ARPA provision from the House-passed bill "because we thought it was a matter that ought to be handled in any defense reorganization plan they send up."

Big Beaver

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Beavers were a lot bigger 8-12,000 years ago. An upper jawbone found at a construction site here indicates beavers of that era weighed perhaps 500-600 pounds and were roughly the size of a black bear.

TURNED-UP TOES—Holland-born Bob de Wolff, senior design engineer at Lockheed Aircraft's Georgia Division, points out the similarity between new "uplift" skis on a C-130 Hercules cargo plane and the Dutch shoes he and his teen-age daughter, Anneke, are wearing. The new skis, now undergoing tests in Minnesota, will be more effective in throwing off snow and ice on landings and take-offs. A former engineer with Fokker Aircraft in Amsterdam, de Wolff worked with the engineering team which designed the skis for the 62-ton prop-jet transport at Marietta, Ga.

Village Deadlock Continues

Long Delay Indicated On Road at Pine Hill

A road project virtually ready for execution of plans, is still due for long delay, it appeared today, as the result of a water department situation in Pine Hill.

Legislators, business groups and many residents of the Pine Hill area have sought solution of the problem so that work could start this year on the project, which will bring the rebuilding of several miles of Route 28, but a village deadlock threatens further delay and possible ultimate change of plans.

No Solution in Sight

William A. Kelly, Ulster County Democratic leader and Paul Williams, Democratic leader in Delaware County conferred with public works officials in Albany this week, and urged an early start on the project, but inquiries in Pine Hill today indicated no early solution of the water line problem causing the delay.

The Pine Hill Water Company is privately owned, and holds it is unable to pay the cost of moving a section of water line which would figure in the road project. An alternative is for the Village of Pine Hille to take over the water system, so that the responsibility of moving the water line would then rest with the state.

All Rests on Price

Mayor Charles Griffin has indicated that he would ask for a referendum on village purchase of the system if the price is reduced. No willingness to cut the price has been indicated, and that, to date, is where the problem rests.

The state estimate on the cost of removing the pipe is $22,251, and the water company contends that it cannot afford the job on a gross income of $8,000 a year.

An underwriters' report also indicates that a raise in the insurance rate for the village is due unless larger pipe is installed in the system, and that change, it is indicated would be too costly.

Ready for Bids

A state engineer said today that the plans for rebuilding Route 8 are completed to the point where the state can call for bids.

It was also indicated today opposition to realignment of the road at Pine Hill is a factor in holding up the project, and if this, along with the water line problem continues, the best hope for the project might lie in an early change in plans.

The water company has asked for an impartial appraisal of the system as a means of setting a price, but nothing has come of that either, to date.

Proposal Made to Begin 1959 Celebration Here

A proposal that Kingston, based on its historical heritage as first capital of New York State, launch the Hudson-Champlain Celebration in 1959 was made at a local general committee meeting held Wednesday evening at city hall.

The committee was appointed by Mayor Edwin F. Radel. Albert Kurdt, manager of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce, served as temporary chairman at last night's meeting and Herbert DeKay as temporary secretary.

Too Meet Soon Again

Kurdt said so many possible activities in conjunction with the celebration were suggested that another meeting will be scheduled within the next two weeks.

It was suggested that all living former governors of the state be invited to participate in launching the celebration in this city since it served the state as its first capital.

Also recommended was an invitation to judicial and legislative officers to participate since Kingston was the site of the first judicial and legislative meetings.

To Make Decision

Decision will be reached at the next meeting on proposals to be given serious consideration and sponsored. Permanent officers and a steering committee, composed of not more than seven persons, also will be named.

Harry Rigby Jr., county chairman of the celebration, outlined possible state-wide activities and expressed hope other communities in the county also would name committees and that representatives of each town would form a coordinating group. The Kingston committee will coordinate all local activities.

It was indicated that all local activities must be planned, executed and financed by local residents. It was agreed that local groups should encourage planning activities during 1959 with a Hudson-Champlain celebration theme or feature.

It was noted that major events such as the 300th anniversary celebration of the Old Dutch Church would be an example of this type of planning.

Will Ask State Group

The committee agreed that it should sponsor three or four major events during the year to coincide with important local historical dates.

The group voted to ask the state committee to begin the year-long celebration here in observance of the first capital of New York State having been located here.

The temporary chairman was authorized to name a nominating committee to present a suggested slate of officers at the next meeting.

Among other suggestions made was a proposal of a general community improvement or beautification program, scheduling of another Hudson Valley Apple Blossom Festival here in 1959.

Would Help Economy

It was noted that the basic reason for the 1959 celebration is to publicize the area, attract visitors and vacationists, resulting in improved business and a strengthened economy.

The celebration would also focus attention in the importance of Ulster County and the Hudson Valley in the history of the nation.

The committee announced it will welcome suggestions.

Youth Is Picked Up On Fugitive Charge

Leonard Allen Bemont, 18, of Tobacco Street, Chestnut Hill, Conn., was picked up by State Trooper R. J. Ryan Wednesday afternoon in the Town of Ulster on a charge of being a fugitive from justice. Bemont was lodged in the Ulster County Jail.

Trooper Ryan said the youth was wanted for the alleged theft of a 1952 Nash Rambler from Washington, D. C. Bemont was held for arrival of officers from Washington, D. C. pursuant to a teletype message.

Denies Tricky Currents

TORONTO (AP) — The St. Lawrence Seaway Authority today denied a shipping company official's charge that tricky currents may make the Iroquois lock too dangerous for 700-foot Great Lakes ships.

Capt. James S. Walton of Port Colbourne, Ont., commodore of Colonial Steamship's inland fleet, said last week a 3-mile current flowing by the lock 115 miles west of Montreal made it "very unlikely" big ships could use the seaway.

"A cross current at the upstream approach will render navigation a little tricky," the authority said, "but the consensus is that when the masters of vessels become familiar with conditions, there will be no difficulty to safe navigation."

No Surrender

A British peer cannot surrender his title for political reasons. During the 17th century, an epidemic of resignations led to the rule that no peer could surrender a title.

To Confer On Route Next Week

A conference on Kingston's arterial route project is expected to be held in Albany next week, it was learned today.

Mayor Edwin F. Radel and Corporation Counsel William F. Kelly, as planned are expected to confer with Thomas F. FitzGerald, chief engineer of the State Department of Public Works, on plans for the route designed to relieve city streets of heavy, through traffic.

The meeting, it was indicated today, could be held as early as Monday.

President Asks 5 More Years of Trade Program

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower today asked Congress for a five-year extension of the reciprocal trade program with increased power for him to negotiate tariff cuts. He said it "is essential to America's vital national interests."

In a special message, Eisenhower said of the trade program: "It will strengthen our economy, which is the foundation of our national security. It will enhance the economic health and strength of the free world. It will provide a powerful force in waging total peace."

Big Controversy Looms

The requested legislation is expected to stir up one of the major controversies of this Congress session.

The administration ran into trouble in lining up a Republican sponsor for the bill. Rep. Reed of New York, senior Republican on the House Ways and Means Committee, is the party to whom the administration normally would look for sponsorship of the measure.

But Reed declined to put his name to it.

Rep. Kean (R-NJ) agreed to take on the task.

The committee has set hearings to begin Feb. 17.

The trade program dates back to the Franklin D. Roosevelt administration. Under it, the administration can lower tariffs on imports in return for concessions by other countries as to their tariffs on U. S. products.

Calls for Tariff Cut

White House press secretary James C. Hagerty said the administration program calls for a 5 per cent tariff reduction a year for a five-year period.

The argument by backers of the program runs that lower tariffs stimulate world trade and are helpful all around. On the other side, the contention is made that increased imports hurt American producers and cause U. S. workers to lose jobs.

Eisenhower took sharp issue with those who insist high tariffs are necessary to protect American industry.

On the contrary, the President said, a healthy U. S. economy depends on expanded trade with other countries.

Lanza Denied Prison Release

LPATTSBURGH (AP) — Labor racketeer Joseph (Socks) Lanza today lost a court move to end his prison term.

Lanza's attorney, Michael T. Direnzo, promptly announced he would appeal the decision.

Judge Sherlock Haley of Clinton County Court denied the writ of habeas corpus Lanza sought to free him from a prison term ending in 1960.

Lanza's original maximum term for extortion on the Fulton Fish Market in New York City would have expired this year. He was paroled in 1950 after serving about half of the maximum 15 years. Last February, after a scandal about his violating parole, he was returned to prison and the term was extended to 1960.

Lanza's counsel argued that the racketeer had served the maximum sentence under law, because the law provides that parole time is credited as time served if parole terms are observed.

In the midst of today's argument, which were a continuation of arguments last Thursday, Haley declared:

"I've heard enough. Writ's denied!"

Direnzo asked for Haley's reason.

"I have 15 writs a month; I don't have time to write opinions," the judge replied.

Air Conditioning

Dr. Willis Carrier, is credited with the invention of modern air conditioning in 1902, but Leonardo da Vince created a water-drive fan to ventilate the boudoir of his parton's wife about 1500 A.D., 400 years earlier.

The Thirty Years' War between Catholice and Prestestants began in Germany in 1618.

WALLKILL NEWS

Scout Week Declared

WALLKILL — Town of Shawangunk Supervisor Jesse C. McHugh has issued a proclamation establishing Feb. 7 through Feb. 13 as Boy Scout Week here.

At the same time, Edmund P. Walther and Fred Earl, co-chairmen of the annual fund drive, announced that this village and the immediate areas would be canvassed beginning Feb. 3. There will be a meeting soon of all local canvassers.

Thoroughly endorsing the Boy Scout movement personally, Supervisor McHugh said in his proclamation, "On Feb. 8, 1918, the Congress of the United States granted the Boy Scouts of America its official charter. Since that date, Scouting has grown tremendously and has provided outstanding training in good citizenship for more than 26 million boys."

"The financial life-blood for the Boy Scout organization comes from typical, civic-minded citizens like you and me," Mr. McHugh said, "and in this way, the Boy Scouts belong to every citizen of a community and not to just an exclusive few."

Concluding the proclamation he added, "Therefore, in my official capacity, I ask each citizen to contribute his financial share to the fund drive this year and thus help provide the necessary means to this fine organization to continue caring for and training America's future citizens and protectors."

Large Court of Honor Planned by Scout Troop

One of the largest Courts of Honor in years will be held by Boy Scout Troop 76, Feb. 12, in the Rose-Sheeley Post, American Legion Home, 8 p. m.

Scouts and mothers of the troop will be honored with presentations including advancements in rank, service pins, special awards and the bestowal of an Eagle Scout rank award.

Fred C. Terwilliger, chairman of the local adult troop committee, met recently with members of the group to plan the observance. It is expected that many local degnitaries will take part in the event.

The Court of Honor is one of several highlights of the troop slated for Scout Week, Feb. 7 through Feb. 15.

Refreshments and a social hour will be held after the ceremonies.

Mothers' March Friday

Lloyd Kniffen, chairman of the March of Dimes program for the Town of Shawangunk, has announced that the annual Mothers March for the polio fund will take place Friday night.

Beginning at 7 p. m., when the Firehorn will sound, a number of mothers will canvass the village on a house-to-house basis. Co-coptains, Mrs. Wesley Witherel and Mrs. Robert Auchmoody will ask residents to turn on their porch lights.

Parents' Club Meets

A regular meeting of the Wallkill Parents Club will be held Feb. 6, 8 p. m. in the Elementary School, according to announcement by club president, Phyllis C. Prescott.

Fathers are being urged to attend this meeting. There will be dancing to the Rhythm King's music. Refreshments will be served by a committee of mothers.

Church Notes

Thursday 7:30 p. m. Choir Rehearsal will be held at the church. Sunday at 10 a. m. Sunday school will convene with Superintendent Fred C. Terwilliger in charge. At 11 a. m. regular worship services will be held with the choir providing the music under the direction of Jack Henderson, with Mrs. Louise C. Didsbury, organist. There will be ordination and installation of officers to the Consistory and a reception of new members by letters of transfer. The Rev. Walter N. Van Popering will officiate. Newly elected to the post of deacon was Norman L. Eckert and to the post of elder, Clifford E. Caswell. The two men will be ordained and installed along with the remaining members of the consistory. Tuesday, Feb. 18, 5:30 p. m. Youth Fellowship will hold a pancake and sausage supper in the church hall. Tickets are now on sale from any member of the Youth Fellowship. Servings will continue through 7 p. m.

Friday; Feb. 21, 8 p. m. the annual World Day of Prayer observance at the church will be under the direction of the Women's Missionary Society. The choir will provide appropriate music for the evening.

Sunday, Feb. 23, 8 p. m. the series of Union Lenten Services will begin. The complete schedule will be announced.

Town Notes

Paul Ruggiero celebrated his first birthday Saturday. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Ruggiero of Wallkill.

On Sunday, Feb. 9, Mrs. Vera T. Seeley pays tribute to the Boy Scouts in honor of Boy Scout Week on her program over a Newburgh radio station at 1:05 p. m. A prominent member of the Ulster-Sullivan-Greene Council will appear on the program as well as two of the outstanding Scouts of Troop 76 in Wallkill.

Mrs. James J. McLinden returned to the Bronx after spending a few days with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Ruggiero.

Members of the Ladies Auxiliary of Rose-Sheeley Post 1034 have expressed appreciation to all those attending the card party last Friday evening.

Ave Is Doubtful Of GOP Moves to Reduce Crime, JD

ALBANY (AP) — Democratic Gov. Harriman says he doubts whether Republican legislative leaders are really sincere about coping with mounting crime and delinquency.

Harriman made the statement yesterday after Republicans had cut $105,000 in additional aid for New York City's probation program from a deficiency appropriation bill.

The 70-million-dollar appropriation, covering expenditures not included in the current budget and advances to be paid back later, was passed unanimously by the Assembly yesterday and the Senate on Tuesday.

The $105,000 was the only item cut. Democrats in both houses went along after Republicans brushed aside their efforts to restore it.

"This raises a question about the sincerity of the Republican majority in dealing with the problem of mounting delinquency and crime," the governor declared.

The state matches on a 50-50 basis funds spent by local communities to expand probation programs.

The GOP action, Harriman said, meant that New York City would have to curtail its probation activities or pay the $105,000 state share.

'57 Retail Milk Price at Peak

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U. S. Agriculture Department reported today that the annual average retail price of milk reached a new high of 24.2 cents a quart in 1957.

An advance of nine-tenths of a cent a quart from the 1956 average continued a steady increase of the past three years.

The department said that farmers got an average of 10.9 cents a quart. This left a margin of 13.3 cents for processors and distributors. Since 1952, the farmer's share dropped one cent a quart, but the marketing margin went up 2 cents.

In a report on the farm marketing and transportation situation, the department said charges for marketing farm-produced foods averaged 4 per cent higher in 1957 than in 1956. This compared with annual increases of one to two per cent during the preceding four years.

Snow Greetings

CHICAGO (AP)—Energetic admirers of a girl office worker stamped a giant greeting in the snow in front of Chicago's tallest building, the 40-story Prudential building. It was visible to hundreds of persons.

Written in the snow in a park in front of the building was: "Miss D. for Dietz." It honored Miss Jean Dietz, 22. The job was done by two co-workers.

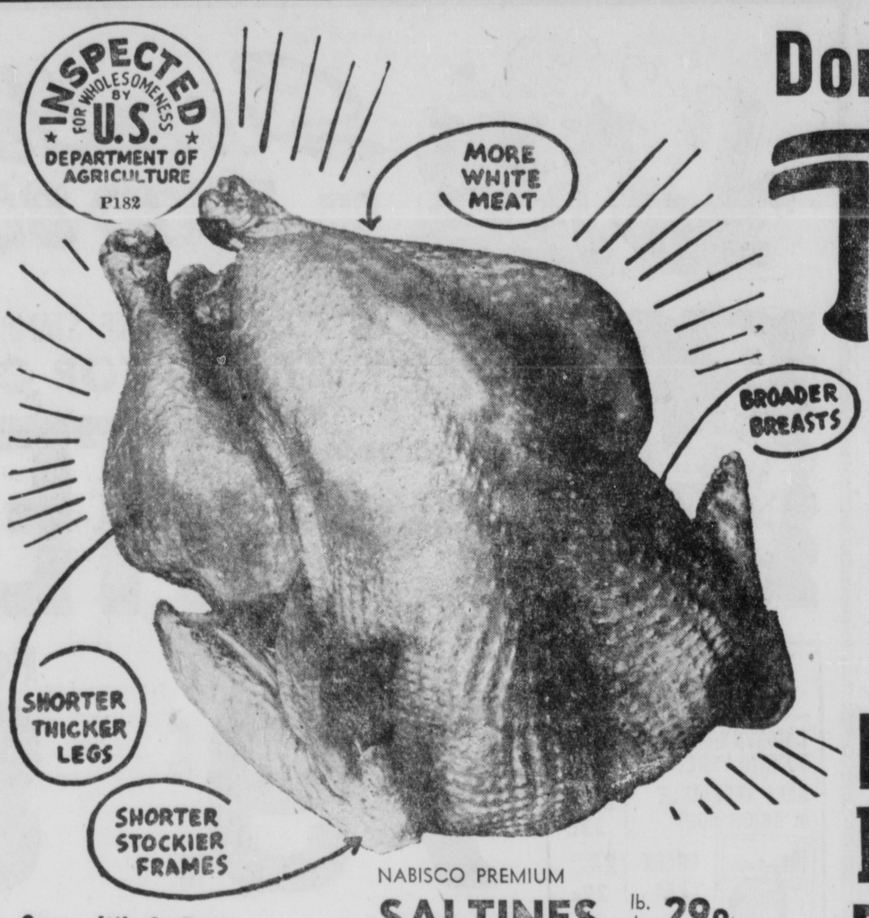

Port Goes to Pot

SEATTLE (AP) — The Port of Seattle went to Pot yesterday.

As high winds raked the city yesterday, the "R" in the big "Port of Seattle" sign atop the port headquarters blew out, leaving a sign with somewhat dubious advertising qualities to greet mariners.

Apple Growers

Other Speakers

Among speakers Wednesday were Jerome K. Hurd of Clintondale; L. A. Putnam of Lockport, secretary-manager of the Lake Ontario Fruit Growers Co-op; Rockwood N. Berry of Livermore Falls, Me., vice-president of the New York and New England Apple Institute; Monte Marvin, secretary-manager of the institute, and others.

Speaking this morning were Dr. G. W. Hedlund, Cornell University; Bennett Cominick, Cornell; C. G. Forshey, Poughkeepsie Laboratory of the State Agricultural Experiment Station; and others.

Hurd described the operation of the Northeastern Fruit Association—"a new way of marketing apples profitably," new in the East although it has been tried in the state of Washington.

Purpose of the association is to promote betterment of all segments of the Northeastern fruit industry, with special emphasis on apples.

He said the association hopes to provide members with daily marketing and price information, represent its members' point of view to government agencies, buyers and public and work toward the solution of various problems in marketing of apples and other fruits. It also hopes to produce a cooperative spirit among those who grow and sell fruit.

Notes Progress

He pointed out that progress seems slow but some accomplishments could be reported during the 1957-58 season—for example, a current membership of 26 representing more than 2¼ million bushels of apples.

The problems of marketing are almost limitless, he said, pointing out that as the association becomes established it is hoped more will be done toward the solution of these problems. More work needs to be done in package and packing standardization, he said.

To meet the future, increased cooperation and integrity is needed within the apple industry, he told his audience. "Integrity must start with the original package and follow through to the consumer."

In talking to prospective members, he said, it has been obvious that we do not all trust one another. To combat this lack of trust it seemed necessary to incorporate within the by-laws the right of the executive secretary to examine books of members of doubtful honesty, Hurd said. "Such members may lose their membership."

Cites Changes

Putnam cited revolutionary changes in the food distribution system, pointing out that growers had gone from the "barrel to the film bag and cell pack, from the 'mama and papa' corner grocery store to the mass selling of food through huge self-service supermarkets and mass buying by retailing giants, the chain stores."

He said the sales co-op is a tool which has developed to give the fruit grower, who is a small businessman, some of the advantages of big business in his selling.

Organized buying demands organized volume selling, Putnam stated. He said the average grower is not in close enough touch with the day-to-day market to bargain effectively with those well-informed buyers. Nor does the average grower have the volume of consistent quality fruit to supply the chains for any extended period of time, which makes it difficult for the buyer to do business with him and still maintain a consistent quality in his stores.

Stresses Integrity

Putnam cited the importance of integrity in representing fruit, pointing out that a confident buyer will often pay more for a block of fruit from an organization which has tried to build a reputation for integrity.

He said he doubted that the sales co-op was the answer for all growers, certainly not for mediocre growers, or growers who want to be completely independent. He emphasized the fact that a grower must be willing to cooperate with other growers to bring the best results in a co-op.

Age of Changes

He said we are living in an age of sudden change, a condition applicable also to selling conditions, and that growers must adjust selling methods to meet market needs.

The co-op is a "tool to meet the immediate challenge of today's market," he said.

Berry spoke briefly on the need for adequate financing of consumer advertising and education in apple production and marketing and was followed by Marvin who pointed out that up to the holidays the New York and New England Apple Institute, of which he is manager, had spent $95,000 in advertising and $20,000 toward the national program and other campaigns planned for the controlled atmosphere McIntosh season.

He said the institute had used 600-line advertisements in newspapers, 3,700 radio and television broadcasts, carried on a heavy food page publicity program with the distribution of pictures and recipes to 177 dailies and 700 weeklies and 312 radio and television stations east of the Mississippi.

A controlled atmosphere McIntosh campaign is planned for the season with heavy emphasis on trade promotion, he told the audience.

Reports on Program

He reported that the national program, through the National Apple Institute, now has 660 prints of "Gateway to Health," industry's colored motion picture. He said there had been many requests from schools, so many that it exceeded the supply.

Marvin also reported that 405,000 guides to teachers on good nutrition, dental hygiene and apples had been distributed on request to schools all over the United States, which meant upward of 1,250,000 children had been presented with the story through their teachers.

Hedlund said the outlook for general economic conditions is a topic of unusual current interest because we have not been doing so well in recent months.

"You are well aware of the fact that in many industries sales, output and employment have declined since late summer. As yet there are no significant signs of improvement. During the last month most of you probably read as many predictions, including that of President Eisenhower, as I did, on what will or will not happen in 1958. I am not sure that one more statement will add much to your knowledge . . ."

Sees More Decline

Hedlund described what had happened to economic conditions since the war, where we are in early 1958 and what lies ahead and the implications of the outlook for farmers in 1958 and beyond.

He said that the decade since the war had been a prosperous one, that 1957 was one of the best years of the period, about as good as 1956 even with the decline during the last few months. He pointed out, however, that agriculture did not share equally in the prosperity.

He called attention to the present business decline and predicted that conditions would still further decline before they improve.

He said he expects improvements during 1958, probably during the summer, in the business world, that industrial production for the year should be somewhat less than last year but that personal income and consumer expenditures will be as high as last year. He does not expect prices of commodities generally to decline.

"There is still pressure for costs, particularly labor, to increase. I expect farmers will pay as much for the things they buy as they do now. I think the tendency will be for some increase. I think the real implications in our defense spending lie beyond 1958. The race for control of outer space can be a long and expensive one. This year may be only the beginning. If so, then 1959, 1960 and beyond could be another Korea so far as economics is concerned with high expenditures, unbalanced budgets and renewed inflationary pressures. That is beyond my consideration today, but is a definite possibility."

No Solution Near

He said he did not expect 1958 to see any solution to the overall price-cost problem of agriculture, that if his guesses were anywhere near correct, and if agricultural production continues high this year, "I expect we will be lucky if prices of farm products are as high this year as last.

"As already indicated, my guess is that costs are more likely to increase than to decrease. In a nutshell, my analysis comes out with a somewhat pessimistic immediate outlook. I hope I am wrong, but I assume you wanted to know what I thought, not what I thought you would like to hear."

Speaking on the "Economic Outlook for Fruit Growers," Dominick said the fresh apple market situation for the rest of the season depended to a great extent on quality and competition from the west.

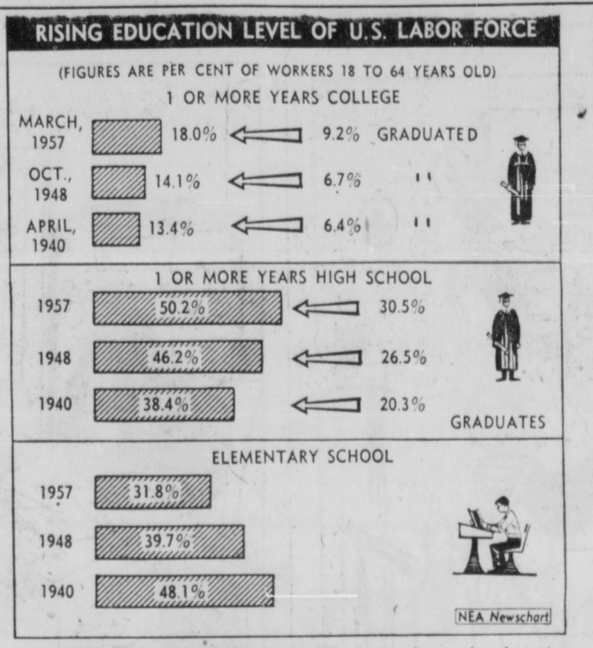

Difficult to Summarize

"It is extremely difficult to summarize the apple market situation in terms of the outlook for growers. Supplies of processed products are at high levels. Continued effort should be exerted to move these stocks into consumption to have a favorable stock situation at the beginning of the processing season. Stocks of canned and frozen slices are very high.

"Shipments of sauce have been high and stocks probably will be considerably smaller at the beginning of the next processing season than they were at the beginning of this season.

"It seems reasonable to believe at this point that the national apple crop will not be as large in 1958 as in 1957. These factors seem to indicate that 1958 will be a more favorable season for apple growers than they have experienced in 1957."

He made the point that in western New York State 41 per cent of apple trees planted since 1950 had been Rome and Delicious and that in the Hudson Valley since 1953 the percentage had been 51 per cent.

MANPOWER AND BRAINPOWER—With the national spotlight on our educational system, it is comforting to know that the American worker has a lot more education today than his predecessor of 18 years ago. As seen on Newschart, above, more than half of our workers today have had high school training, against only 38.4 per cent in 1940. Ten per cent more have high school diplomas. How education affects livelihood is indicated by the fact that nearly two-thirds of college graduates are in professional and technical positions while over half of those who went only to elementary school are unskilled workers and laborers. Data from the Conference Board and U.S. Census Bureau.

Slayer of 10

Scheele said he and two officers would fly to Douglas today.

Scheele said that "we are going to do our utmost to get him back here. Wyoming will have priority on prosecution if Dixon decides to press in the Collison killing.

Lincoln officials had another problem: Mayor Bennett Martin of Lincoln posed it this way:

"We're still in a damn sick situation. We still don't know whether the number of victims will stop at nine."

May Be More Bodies

They had no way of knowing yet whether more bodies will be found along the gruesome murder trail that began Monday.

There might have been more in Wyoming if Starkweather had not run out of ammunition.

Starkweather told officers he had forced Caril to go along with him on the wild ride that ended in Wyoming cattle country.

She herself fled screaming from the car after Collison was shot and said that Starkweather was crazy and she feared for her own life.

Joe Sprinkle, 29-year-old oil company employe, tussled briefly with Starkweather along the road and wrenched a .22 caliber rifle from his hands. Starkweather had threatened him when he stopped to offer aid.

It was then that sheriff's men drove up and Starkweather bolted in the black sedan stolen at Lincoln.

Body Under Dashboard

Sheriff Earl Heflin gave chase, firing as the two cars roared down the highway and through Douglas. Outside of Douglas Starkweather stopped and gave up.

Sprinkle said that Starkweather tried to get him to demonstrate how the hand brake was released on Collison's car. The Casper oil man said Collison's body was jammed under the dashboard. When Starkweather threatened him with the rifle Sprinkle grabbed it.

In Lincoln, Guy Starkweather, the youth's father, said that he believed "everything just built up inside Charlie until he went berserk. . . ."

"He is to lose his sight within a year . . ." he said. He explained that his son was hit on the forehead with a piece of lumber a few years ago.

95 to Face Treason

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP)—A preliminary inquiry today ordered 95 South Africans, opponents of the nationalist government's white supremacy policy, to stand trial on charges of high treason.

Ending a 13-month-long court hearing corresponding to a grand jury investigation, Magistrate F. C. A. Wessel ruled that there was "sufficient reason for putting all the accused on trial."

The government charged that they sought to overthrow it and set up a Communist state. Defense Counsel V. C. Berrange contended his clients used only moral and peaceful persuasion in campaigning against the government's race legislation.

Won't Need Canal

NEW YORK (AP) — A memorandum to the New York State Power Authority concludes that "a new canal to parallel the Welland Canal will not be needed in the reasonably foreseeable future."

The memorandum, released today by the power authority, says the Welland Canal in Canada can be improved so that its capacity can keep up with the St. Lawrence Seaway capacity.

The memorandum added:

"The diversion of water for a new canal paralleling the Welland Canal either in Canada or the United States would cause a substantial revenue loss at the Niagara power project."

53 Are Convicted

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP)—A military court today convicted 53 members of the Binh Xuyen organization for complicity in rebellion.

Nguyen Van Chan, the principal defendant, was sentenced to life imprisonment. The others received sentences ranging from 3 to 20 years.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market remained narrowly higher early this afternoon in quiet trading.

The edge of an early advance by steels and selected issues was blunted considerably.

Gains of leading stocks were mainly fractional. There was a scattering of losers.

The market was again just past the November recovery highs, an area where further progress has always been difficult because of the supply of stock available at these prices.

Leading rails nudged ahead on average following their late rally of yesterday.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 30 cents to $163.30 with the industrials up 70 cents, the rails up 20 cents and the utilities unchanged.

Corporate bonds declined and U. S. government bonds were lower in moderately active trading following announcement by the U. S. Treasury of its 16¾-billion-dollar refinancing, the first major effort to stretch the federal debt since 1955.

Will Lay Off 800

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — The New Haven railroad, which is seeking federal and state aid to help it solve its financial problems, will lay off nearly 800 of its employes immediately.

A railroad spokesman said yesterday that the layoff, of 6 per cent of its nearly 14,000 employees, was necessary because of a 14 per cent decrease in freight car loadings coupled with a substantial drop in passengers carried.

The spokesman said wage increases, which became effective in November and totalled about five million dollars, had completely offset payroll economies.

President George Alpert has repeatedly said that the company needs increases in fares, tax abatement or some form of direct subsidies to help it operate.

Police Check on Shot

An air gun pellet, apparently shot from a nearby field, pierced the door of the apartment of Carman Milano, Colonial Gardens yesterday afternoon. Police were notified at 5:05 p. m., that the door had been hit, and Officers James Amato and Leon Fitzgerald investigated. Mrs. Milano was in the apartment at the time and heard the pellet hit. She notified Alexander Yosman, superintendent of the apartments.

Cub Pack 13

The monthly meeting of Cub Pack 13 of P-TA, School 7, met Tuesday night at George Washington School. Opening flag ceremonies were conducted by Den 3. The business meeting was conducted by Cubmaster Bernard Orr who again urged parents to attend the monthly Pack meetings. The Pack 13 newspaper project continues and both small and large fold newspapers are acceptable if separated and tied in bundles. Anyone not at the meeting may obtain further information by contacting Cubmaster Orr.

The annual Blue and Gold banquet of the Pack will be held in the George Washington School Tuesday, Feb. 25 at 6:30 p. m. There will be Cub Scout inspection at this event. Parents and Cubs are also reminded that boys' re-registration fee and insurance is due at the time of the banquet.

Following the business meeting Dens 2 and 5 presented individual programs in line with the January theme of "Movie Makers." Den 2 presented a pantomime to the playing of the record "Walt Disney's Country Mouse" with the following Cubs taking part: Abner Country Mouse, Frank Hample; Monty City Mouse, Chris Chafouleas; Cat, Bruce Safford; Fiddlers, Terry Joy, John Cline and Joel Richardson.

Den 5 presented the story of "Beauty and the Beast" featuring puppets and a stage they made in January. The cast was as follows: Narrator, Robert Millham; Beauty, John Suhrhoff; Beast, Christopher Reuner; Sisters, Thomas Suhrhoff and Gregory Lyke; Merchant, Bruce Kennedy; Prince, Paul Lambiase; Stage managers, Arthur Davis and Bruce Jameson.

Slides were shown by District Commissioner Edward Safford taken at Camp Tri-Mount, followed by a piano solo by Eric Scott of Den 3. Refreshments privided by Den mothers were then served.

Lion Badge—Robert Kelly, Bruce Krom, Frank Hample, Eric Scott.

Wolf Badge—Bruce Giacoma, John Cline, Donald Reis, Thomas Suhrhoff, John Suhrhoff, Paul Lambiase.

Gold Arrow Points on Lion Badge—Thomas Krom, Robert Kelly, Bruce Krom, Frank Hample, Eric Scott.

Democrats, GOP

was among topics of an eight-bill package introduced by Sen. Thomas C. Desmond, Newburgh Republican, and Assemblyman John E. Johnson, Genesee County Republican, who are chairman and vice chairman, respectively, of the Joint Committee on the Problems of the Aging.

The legislation, which they said was designed to provide "peace of mind" for the elderly, included a provision that would ban employer discrimination against the over-40 workers.

It also provides for more hospital facilities, increased outlays for recreation and more housing for the aging.

The legislative committee on carrier taxation yesterday sponsored bills designed to simplify bookkeeping of truck-mileage taxpayers, who have complained the present system involved excessive accounting costs. A public hearing on the measure was set for Feb. 19, when the trucking industry will give its views.

Other Bills

Both Republicans and Democrats announced measures to control use of chemical additives in food.

In his annual message, Harriman said there was "urgent need" to protect the public health with legislation to require that such additives be proven safe before they could be used.

Assemblyman Janet Hill Gordon, Norwich Republican, is sponsor of the GOP bill, based on recommendations of the Joint Committee on Imitation Food Products and Problems.

Will Seek Raise

regulations and toll rates be altered or eliminated.

The following legislators met with the Bridge Authority on Jan. 17 when the legislators agreed with Stillman's request to sponsor two "housekeeping" items of legislation which will assist in the difficult process of floating a substanial bond issue by eliminating obsolete and misleading wording in the present law: Senator F. Ogden Bush, Assemblymen D. Clinton Dominick, William Brady, Kenneth Wilson and R. Watson Pomeroy.

At this meeting Stillman advised the legislators that the operating funds for the Newburgh-Beacon Ferry would probably run out in 1959. In discussing the need for an annual state appropriation for the ferry from 1959 until the Newburgh-Beacon Bridge is opened, Stillman spoke of the many precedents in New York State for subsidization of vital transportation services—such as the Staten Island Ferry, the Erie Canal, and the New York City subways and bus lines.

Reluctant on Ferry

Stillman noted that the Bridge Authority was legally bound to keep bridge and ferry revenues separate, and had been reluctant to assume the losing ferry system's operation in the first place.

Other legislators asked to the Albany meeting are Senators Thomas C. Desmond, Ernest I. Hatfield, Pliny W. Williamson; Assemblymen Theodore Hill Jr., Willard C. Drumm, Wilson C. Van Duzer, Willis H. Stephens and Robert Walmsley.

Prison Experimenter

Charles Goodyear, who discovered the process of vulcanizing, continued his experiments with rubber while he was in prison for debt in Philadelphia.

FARM EXPORTS AT RECORD HIGH—Exportation of farm products is big business and in fiscal 1957 the value of U.S. exports set a new high of 4.7 billion dollars. This represents the output of 60 million acres, according to the U.S. Department of Agriculture. Exporting required financing, inland transportation, storage and ocean transportation for 36 million tons of cargo. Newschart above shows typical agricultural commodities and the vast amounts of them exported.

Wallkill Area

in the future, unless construction of new classrooms is undertaken now.

A breakdown of present and expected future enrollment in elementary grades if building proposals are approved is: Wallkill Elementary, capacity 400; Main Street, Annex, 103; High School Building, no room for elementary after 1959; Plattekill Elementary, proposed capacity 300; now 267 Plattekill Annex, temporary, none, in 1959, 25 now; Leptondale, proposed capacity 300, now 14; Modena, capacity 50, now 31.

School Needs

Elementary school needs are characterized by temporary and substandard classrooms which are inadequate. The report says that too many children in one classroom results in inferior education. At present, most Wallkill classes exceed 25 pupils, the desired number; several even exceed 30 pupils. Without sufficient classrooms available the number of overcrowded classes will increase, according to the report.

In Wallkill High School state requirements in industrial arts, homemaking, science, music and art can not be met because of a lack of sufficient and adequate rooms for these subjects at the junior high school level. Variety of course offerings in the above subjects in the senior high school also is limited by the lack of space. Number of classrooms for general academic subjects will be inadequate for the high school enrollment after 1959. Past high school growth has been partly met by removing elementary classes from the high school building.

Proposed Plan

The proposed plan — A new complete elementary school for kindergarten to sixth grade in the Leptondale area, consisting of 10 classrooms, a library easily converted to a classroom if necessary, administration offices and an all-purpose room with kitchen and stage adjoining; a four classroom addition to the Plattekill School; An addition to the Wallkill High School, consisting of six general academic classrooms, special rooms for industrial arts, homemaking, science, art, music, extension of the existing cafeteria and kitchen and school health offices. Improvement and enlargement of drive and parking areas is necessary. Minor alterations to the top floor would enlarge library, science and business space. Junior high school classes would be accommodated by the addition.

Approximately 30 resident children attend parochial schools in Newburgh and New Paltz, there being no private or parochial schools within the school district, nor any contemplation of such. Limited capacities of these schools, prevent the number of resident children attending such schools from being a significant factor in planning classrooms for the immediate future. Such schools can accomodate pupils only through the eighth grade. Therefore high school accomodations must be provided for even those pupils who might attend parochial elementary schools.

It appears fairly certain that the building program proposed will be sufficient for the district at least until 1963, according to the report. Possible future elementary schools in the Modena-Ardonia, Benton Corners-Tillson Lake-Bruynswick areas would depend on population growth.

Improvements Found

The governor said state agencies since had made a series of inspections of the camps and had found "substantial improvements" in many.

"But," he continued, "there are still some camps where conditions are intolerable. Much remains to be done to provide better day-care and educational facilities for the children of migrant workers and to assure fair treatment for the workers."

Proposed Licenses

Harriman said the federal government could help by setting up a licensing system for crew leaders.

He noted that one of his administration committees also proposed long-term, low-interest federal housing loans for construction and improvement of labor camps.

The state authority has been seeking the license since 1950 after ratification of a treaty with Canada providing for additional diversion of Niagara River water for power purposes.

Since that time Canada has completed its project on the Canadian side of the international river.

300 Strikers Held

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—Police yesterday arrested more than 300 striking employes who defied a government ban on walkouts which might affect Argentina's economy.

The arrests were made during a raid on the employes' union headquarters after the union officials decided by a one-vote margin to continue the strike. Some strikers milling in front of downtown banks were also arrested.

The banking strike has all but paralyzed business activity in Buenos Aires. In addition to the 60,000 bank clerks, about 300,000 construction workers and some 60,000 other workers are now out on strike.

A story is told on one of Joseph Pulitzer's reporters who had been sent to a revival meeting. In the midst of the proceedings an exhorter bent over the young man and said,

Exhorter—Will you come forward?

Reporter—Excuse me, but I am a reporter, and I am here only on business.

Revivalist—But there is no business so momentous as the Lord's.

Reporter—Maybe not, but you don't know Mr. Pulitzer.

A philanthropic lady visited an asylum not long ago and displayed a great interest in the inmates. One old man particularly gained her compassion.

Lady—And how long have you been here, my man?

Old Man—Twelve years.

Old Man—Yes.

After addressing a few more questions to him the visitor passed on. She noticed a smile broadening on the face of her attendant, and on asking the cause heard with consternation that the old man was none other than the medical superintendent. She hurried back to make apologies. How successful she was may be gathered from these words:

Lady—I am sorry, doctor. I will never be governed by appearances again.

Ulster to Receive $86,817.53 From Motor Fuel Taxes

Ulster County will receive $86,817.53 as its share of state collected motor fuel tax for the three months ending Dec. 31, 1957, which is being returned to counties in accordance with the state highway law.

State Comptroller Arthur Levitt today announced distribution of $3,456,750.77 in state motor tax receipts to the 57 counties outside New York City.

The law provides that 10 per cent of the statewide collection of the state's four-cents-a-gallon gasoline tax and the six-cents-a-gallon tax on diesel motor fuel are allotted to the counties on the proportional basis of county road and town highway mileage in each county.

Your Income Tax Primer

BY RICHARD A. MULLENS
Written for NEA Service

Before you can actually start filling out your tax return for 1957, you must decide:

1. Whether to use the simple, wage earner's form, called Form 1040A, printed on a check-sized card, or the more complicated letter-sized form, called Form 1040.

2. Whether, if you are married, to file a joint return with your spouse or, if you are single, whether you qualify for the tax break given surviving spouses and heads of households.

Before you can wisely decide which form to use you need to know:

1. What income you must report.

2. What deductions you are entitled to.

3. What credits you can claim.

Succeeding articles in NEA's Income Tax Primer will show you how to determine your income, deductions and credits. Article 11 will give you detailed help in choosing the best form for your use.

The second decision will be easier if you keep in mind the following information:

Any taxpayer who was married on Dec. 31, 1957 can file a joint return with his or her spouse. In almost all cases, it is advantageous for married persons to file joint returns.

If, however, both spouses have substantial incomes and one has large capital losses or medical expenses, separate returns might give a lower tax than a joint return. The best way to tell in such a case is to compute your tax both ways and then use the cheaper method.

If your husband or wife died during 1957, you are considered married for the entire year and may file a joint return provided, of course, that you report both your income and the income of your deceased spouse.

Any widow or widower whose spouse died in 1955 or 1956 can also compute the tax for 1957 as if he or she were filing a joint return provided:

1. He or she did not remarry before Jan. 1, 1958.

2. He or she supports a child or stepchild in his or her home; and

3. He or she was entitled to file a joint return in the year of the spouse's death.

This tax break is designed to help the surviving spouse in the difficult early years following the death of the husband or wife. It cannot be claimed on Form 1040-A so do not use this form if you are entitled to this tax benefit.

Except for the surviving spouse described above, any person who was unmarried on Dec. 31, 1957 is not entitled to file a joint re-

However, some unmarried persons qualify as the "head of household" and are entitled to use a special tax table which gives about half the tax break given to those who file joint returns.

To determine whether you qualify as the head of household, answer the questions in the box printed with this article and then compare your answers with the answer chart.

You cannot get the benefit of the reduced "head of household" rate if you file on Form 1040-A. Use Form 1040 if you are a head of household.

Need Better, Not More Students in Space Age

Survey Shows Science Program Stepped Up

Editor's Note: What are the various states doing to insure more thorough teaching of science? Quite a bit, as this survey shows but some still are trying to balance the future against the willingness of taxpayers to pay. This second of three articles discusses the problem on the state level.

By CHARLES L. STAFFORD
AP Newsfeatures Writer

One educator put it this way: "We won't launch any satellites by turning out a lot of students in science fields.

"We may by turning out better ones."

He is J. Cloyd Miller, a member of the New Mexico State Board of Education. He was discussing a tough rule that will send most of the science teachers in his state back to school.

Start Asking Questions

Since the Russians successfully launched the first moon in October, Americans have been asking whether our educational system has failed, and if so where.

An Associated Press survey carried the question across the country to educators at both the state and local levels. At the state level, it found signs of positive action and a wealth of ideas. Several states have taken steps to improve science teaching, broaden the scope of science courses and give talented students new opportunities to learn. Others are studying what needs to be done.

Says Miller: "If they have been out a long while, they need refreshing in their fields. Science is something which doesn't stand still."

Better Teachers Sought

New Mexico is seeking better teaching. This may be a natural thing. New Mexico first joined the atom age. The first A-bomb was tested there, and high priority installations dot the state.

The new rule that Miller mentions almost triples the amount of study a teacher needs to teach science.

By Sept. 1, 1960, he says a science teacher must have 24 hours in laboratory courses, including eight hours of physics and one course each in chemistry and biology. Two years later, the minimum requirement will be 36 hours of science.

N. Y. Goes All Out

The New York State Board of Regents has proposed a multimillion-dollar program. The plan includes an increase in scholarships from 6,000 to 12,000, including 500 more for engineering and science students. It would add one hour to the 5½ hours of daily classroom work in junior and senior high schools.

An extra million dollars a year would be spent helping schools establish experimental courses in science. Special aid also would be provided for teachers wishing to return to college and for gifted students.

In Kansas, the State Board of Education is considering new requirements for high school graduation. They would include: four years of English, two of science, at least two of mathematics, three of social science and two of health and physical education. Present requirements are three years of English, one of science, one of mathematics, 1½ of social science and one of physical education.

New Standards

New standards requiring high school students to complete at least one year of mathematics have been adopted in New Hampshire.

In Florida, youngsters have been getting an early baptism of science for almost two decades.

Here, in capsule form, is the situation in some other states active at the state level:

Arkansas — The State Chamber of Commerce has released a study of curricula in 387 high schools showing that one-third of the students have no opportunity to take more than two courses in science. Gov. Orval Faubus has called for a re-evaluation of curricula.

California — Two hundred laymen and educators have been invited to Sacramento Feb. 24-25 to discuss what can be done to improve teaching of science and mathematics.

Indiana—Testing of high school freshmen has been approved to determine how well they have been prepared at elementary and junior high levels.

Massachusetts — An advisory committee on science and mathematics has been attempting for several months to determine whether curricular requirements are satisfactory. Many high school science teachers have taken part in a full scholarship program underwritten by the National Science Foundation. High schools are using professional scientists to augment teaching staffs.

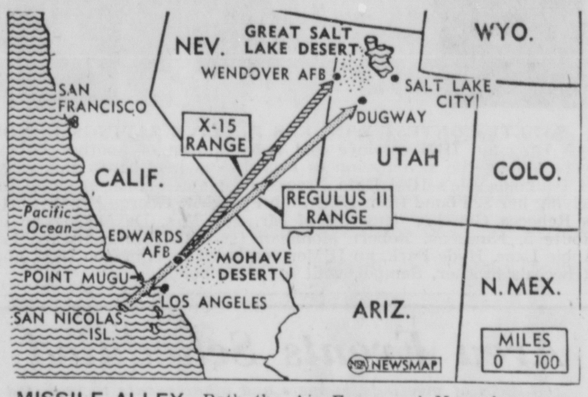

North Carolina — The Richardson Foundation of Greensboro—a family philanthropy — has given the state $50,000 for a study of public school curricular by specialists supervised by a permanent director.

Pennsylvania—Gov. George M. Leader called a conference of 150 educators and laymen to review the state's entire education picture.

Texas—In addition to requiring two units of science for graduation, the State Board of Education has begun a year-long study of what is being taught in public schools.

Vermont — Education Commissioner A. John Holden Jr. has recommended (1) a special advisory committee to review instruction in math and science, (2) establishment of a state science consultant post, and (3) improvement and extension of pupil guidance services.

Washington — New curriculum guides put out by the State Department of Public Instruction are being revised for the 4th through 6th grades to include mention of space activities.

MISSILE ALLEY—Both the Air Force and Navy have announced plans to set up inland ranges from California to Utah for the testing of advanced aircraft, manned and unmanned. The Air Force rocket ship X-15, which will take a man into space next year, is expected to soar a hundred miles high at speeds of thousands of miles an hour in its journey over the sparsely settled land between Edwards and Wendover Air Force Bases (see Newsmap). The Navy range will be used to test the guidance system of the supersonic Regulus II jet missile. Initial tests will be from Edwards AFB to the Army proving grounds at Dugway. Later firings will take place from Point Mugu and from ships in the San Nicolas area. The full range, [illegible] will be ready for use in August.

Air Travel Up Over Rail, Bus

WASHINGTON (AP)—The airlines have zoomed past both the railroads and bus lines in passenger-miles of traffic, the Civil Aronautics Board announced today.

The board said in a statement that scheduled and nonscheduled airline passengers miles total 25,800,000 in 1957. Intercity bus travel was estimated at 25,200,000 miles for the year. The intercity railroad passengers traveled 21,600,000 miles in 1957.

The CAB said no leveling off is foreseen in the steady rise of passenger air traffic. The 1957 bus travel was about the same as in 1956, and railroad passenger volume has been declining for five years.

Dislike Forced Religion

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — A Methodist evangelist leader says the people of Argentina and Uruguay don't like American ministers who go there to "ram Christianity down their throats." The Rev. Dr. George H. Jones, back from a trip to those countries, said that ministers who demonstrate they want to "share the gospel" have most success.

Imprisoned Priests

OSSINING, N. Y. (AP)—A veteran Maryknoll missionary in China, the Rev. Thomas J. Bauer, reports that only three American priests remain there, all in prison or under restriction in Shanghai, and that Communists now are exerting pressure to promote a church dependent of Rome.

2 Youths Fire At Dynamite on Truck, One Dies

LEBANON, Tenn. (AP)—"I fired the last shot, and then I don't know what happened," said 17-year-old Charles Pruett from a hospital bed, four hours after a trailer load of dynamite exploded and killed his companion.

The blast, heard 18 miles away, killed Glenn Gulley, 15, yesterday. Pruett is in serious condition with injuries including loss of an eye and a broken arm.

The youth told newsmen he and Gulley fired into the trailer four or five times before the blast was set off. The blast smashed ceilings of nearby houses and shattered windows in downtown Lebanon, about a mile away.

That last .22 caliber bullet exploded 30 cases—1,500 pounds—of dynamite left in the wooded area a month ago by a Nashville construction firm working on a nearby highway project.

Pruett said he and Gulley were in the area shooting at tin cans with their rifles when they spotted the trailer. He said he had no idea what was in it.

Malcolm S. Poteat, owner of Marion Construction Co., said the trailer was marked "dynamite" in chalk lettering. He said it had been parked in the area at the edge of town as a safety measure.

Religion-Mental Health

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP)—The relationship between religion and mental health, says the Rev. Dr. Hans Hofman of Harvard Divinity School, has become a "very significant problem of our time." He said it offers religion a chance to re-evaluate whether it is hindering or serving the "renewing spirit of God."

Radio, Television Exchanges With Russia Present Problems

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP) — The compromise agreement between the United States and Soviet Russia to widen a variety of exchanges—including television and radio programs — raises some substantial problems for the telecasting-broadcasting industry in this country.

As a viewer and listener, you probably will wait a long time before seeing or hearing any Russian programs. Russians also apparently have a long wait.

This is not because of reluctance on the part of the American industry. Those spokesmen who will discuss the matter feel that an exchange of programs is a fine idea, but they are vague as to exactly how it will be carried out.

Explains Difference

John Daly, vice president in charge of news and public affairs for the American Broadcasting Co., expressing approval of the idea and a desire to cooperate in it, emphasized the basic problem when he said: "In Russia, broadcasting is a monolithic industry. In this country it's a free industry. Thus exchanges between the two raise substantial problems."

The Soviets can accept — or reject — whatever American programs are offered and guarantee to present those they accept on a specific number of their state-run stations. The United States can accept — or reject — Russian programs. But because American stations are autonomous, this country cannot guarantee that the programs will appear on a specified number of stations here.

Presumably this problem could be overcome by a committee that would poll individual stations and obtain some kind of guarantee to show a specific number of Russian programs.

Must Make Decisions

An equally important question involves what TV and radio programs might be offered Russia as representative of American life.

Because of the right of each nation to veto offerings, we won't be seeing or hearing those forms of propaganda in which Soviet commentators describe how perfect life is inside Russia. Neither, presumably, will the Russians be seeing and hearing the free criticism and candid comments on the state of our nation offered daily on American stations; it might give some Russians subversive ideas about the nature of their own "freedom."

So what shall we send to Russia: Westerns? Situation comedies? Dinah Shore or Lawrence Welk or Patti Page? All are to some degree certainly representative of American life and interests. It's a safe bet, however, that these popular forms of American television will not be seen in Russia.

When—and if—the plan eventually is implemented there will be an effort to offer more substantial programs representative of American imagination and initiative. To name a representative candidate from each of the three networks: "Disneyland" (ABC-TV), "See It Now" (CBS-TV), "Omnibus" (NBC-TV).

Technical Difficulties

There exists a final technical problem. To dub Russian language onto American film is a costly undertaking. Who is going to pay for it? Maybe somebody in Washington knows, but you can't find anybody in New York who does.

This sounds negative. But there are such positive benefits to be gained from the exchange of ideas with the Russians that one hopes the problems can be overcome. If they are not, both nations probably won't exchange much in the way of programs except a little chamber music.

Building Collapses

A two-story stone building housing a monument works between 40 and 50 years ago collapsed in Cobleskill last night No one was injured and the cause of the collapse is unknown. Two walls of the building, located along the Delaware and Hudson tracks, and the roof measuring 30 by 50 feet were involved. Other walls and the office remained intact. The building formerly owned by Harold T. Smith was recently purchased by Kean Pangman of Cobleskill.

SWAPS HORSES—Rep. Vincent J. Dellay, elected as a Republican in 1956, has switched to Democratic side of the House. One reason for the move, says Dellay, is his belief that the principles of Eisenhower Republicanism are being better carried out by the Democrats than the GOP. Switch poses a problem for Dellay in the November election: having broken with the party in New Jersey, Republicans feel he has no chance for renomination; and the Democratic slate is already full of announced candidates.

Attacks 'Mystery Theory'—

Anti-Baldness Crusader Returns to Demonstrate Home Treatment Methods

Buffalo, N. Y. — "This Friday, January 31, we will return again to Kingston, N. Y. We will be at the service of hair-worried men and women from 2 p. m. to 9 p. m. Friday at the Governor Clinton Hotel."

The speaker, who has spent 21 years as an anti-baldness crusader, consulted a record book before going on.

"This will be the seventh time our organization has sent an expert to Kingston.

"And tomorrow, as in the past, we will be in the city for two purposes: First, we will personally check the progress of clients now taking Bishop home treatment; second, we will examine and advise people who are not taking treatment.

Examine You Free

"There is no charge, no obligation, for either service.

"We've been doing this for five years in dozens of cities. Every person who took Bishop treatment has done so on a satisfaction - or - money - back guarantee. We do come back and we do make good."

"This last year, only 5.3% of the hundreds who took Bishop treatment asked for refunds.

"I say this proves beyond reasonable doubt that Bishop home treatment does all we say it will do—and more, too."

Bishop is the director of Bishop Hair Experts. Bishop experts do extension work in most cities of any size in the Eastern half of North America.

G. S. BISHOP

Leroy Geiger before and after Bishop treatment. Unretouched photographs.

This international expert will have no part of what he calls the "complete mystery theory" of baldness. This is the theory that nobody has any idea what causes a man to lose his hair, and that nothing can be done to stop such loss.

In fact, Bishop blames much of men's hair troubles on common acceptance of the "complete mystery theory."

Common-Sense View

He takes the common-sense view that the problem of baldness is not hair loss but lack of hair growth. He reasons in this direct cause - and - effect sequence:

1. As long as your scalp is in healthy condition, it will regrow at least as much hair as it naturally sheds.

2. If your scalp is not replacing the hair it sheds, your scalp is not healthy.

3. If your scalp is not healthy, it's because of neglect or improper care — not because of heredity or "fate."

4. Once your scalp is restored to health, it will start regrowing at least as much hair as you lose—and in many cases re-grow hair of full length and strength where only "fuzz" has been growing.

5. With Bishop advice and home treatment, you can put your scalp in healthy, hair-growing condition. What's more, Bishop methods of hygiene will enable you to keep it growing.

To those who doubt that men are directly responsible for most of their own hair troubles, Bishop makes this challenge: Examine ten male scalps at random—anywhere, any time — and see how many of them even look clean!

Once you do it, youll be surprised that even more men are not slick bald.

"My experience," Bishop says, "is that not one male scalp in ten even appears healthy to the naked eye . . . and not one in a hundred will pass examination by an experienced Bishop expert with a magnifying glass."

Personal Supervision

He emphasizes that no one method of scalp - hygiene is proper for all men. There is no such thing as a "cure-all" for hair troubles.

"For this reason, we never advise Bishop home treatment without personal examination by a qualified Bishop expert.

"For this reason, we have you mail regular progress reports to our Cincinnati headquarters —so we can change treatment if your scalp does not respond properly.

"For this reason, we send a Bishop expert back to the city at regular intervals to personally check your scalp and advise you."

Written Guarantee

Bishop home treatment has proved so beneficial for hundreds of men and women, the firm now gives every client a written guarantee.

"You must be satisfied with results in 30 days," Bishop says, "or your money will be refunded."

Call the Governor Clinton Hotel tomorrow, Friday, January 31 —and ask for Mr. G. S. Bishop's suite number. Then see him any time between 2 p. m. and 9 p. m. for your free examination.

You don't need an appointment. There's no charge or obligation. Separate examination rooms—no embarrassment.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Many steelmen are hoping today that the sudden and unexpectedly steep drop in orders may level off soon. Their nonferrous brethren will settle for signs of an end to worldwide over production. Nonferrous metals are those not deriving from iron.

If so, this could bring a halt to the sharp pruning of employe rolls and to the dip in profits which hit most metal companies in the final months of 1957.

Hope for Spring Upturn

When steel, copper, lead and zinc orders will start to climb again is another matter. Optimists hope for a slight seasonal upturn in the spring and a healthier one after Labor Day.

Both ferrous and nonferrous companies face wage scale rises in the summer that will boost the costs once more. For some time nonferrous prices have been falling and steelmen have been finding it harder to maintain the higher prices they put into effect last summer. At that time steel went upon average of $6 a ton while wages increased seven cents an hour.

To keep from banking still more furnaces, some steel companies have taken to absorbing freight costs to win distant markets served by their rivals. Some steel warehouses have cut prices on hot rolled steel products, and other steel firms have cut prices on products for the export market.

The current production of steel is running 41 per cent below year ago figures. Even the last stronghold, structural steel, took a tumble in December, orders dropping 69 per cent below year ago figures.

Profits Drop 14 PC

How the output drop is hurting is shown in U. S. Steel's report that its net profits after taxes in the last three months of 1957 fell 14 per cent from the fourth quarter of 1956.

But a booming first half of the year lifted total 1957 earnings to a record high, 20 per cent above the figures for strife harassed 1956 and 13 per cent above the previous record year of 1955.

A much smaller firm, Jones & Laughlin, also reports profits in 1957, up 0.7 per cent from 1956. But Republic Steel's earnings dipped six per cent and Youngstown Sheet & Tube dropped 1.5 per cent.

Of nine steel companies reporting so far, six lagged behind 1956. Thanks to U. S. Steel's record, their combined profits ran 11 per cent above 1956.

Their nonferrous neighbors in the metal industry have a sadder profit story. Of 11 reporting so far, eight fell behind 1956 earnings. Combined the 11 show net income trailing 1956 by 43.2 per cent. The one big company to report, Kennecott Copper, lists profits as off by 49.5 per cent.

Hope in the industry for better times ahead is based on two things: 1. Belief that customer inventory cutting has gone about as far as it can; 2. A 10 per cent cutback in output in recent days by most copper firms outside the United States.

Gateway Association To Meet February 9

The annual business meeting of Gateway Association, an organization of handicapped persons in this area, will be held February 9 at 2 p. m. at Bethany Hall, Old Dutch Church.

The meeting, originally scheduled Jan. 26, was postponed.

Complete Records Will Help Speed Security Claims

Persons applying for social security benefits can speed the payment of their claims by bringing the necessary records with them according to George J. Johnson, manager of the Kingston Social Security Office.

Wage earners and the survivors of deceased wage earners should furnish a copy of the Form W-2 "Statement of Wages Paid" for the preceding year. In addition they should supply the information regarding earnings for the current year.

Self-employed persons or their survivors should be prepared to furnish a copy of Schedule C (or Schedule F for farmers) and other supplementary scedules with their income tax reports for the preceding year. They should also furnish the cancelled check or other evidence that the tax has been paid. The estimated earnings from self-employment for the current year should also be furnished.

No person should delay contacting his social security office, because he lacks any of these records, Johnson states. Delays in filing claims may mean a loss in benefits. However, if all the records available are taken to the social security office when an applicant seeks to file a claim it will assure the earliest possible payment of benefits.

If the claimant is a man and he has a wife, age 62 or over, she should accompany him to the Social Security Office, if possible. If proof of age for both parties is available it should be brought with them.

The Kingston, New York District Office of the Social Security Administration is located at 61 Albany Avenue and serves all of Ulster and Sullivan Counties.

MRS. VERE NESSEL

Noted Woodstock Accordionist Is Scheduled For Concert Tour in Costa Rica annd Mexico

A series of concerts will be given in Costa Rica and Mexico City by Mrs. Vere (Clementine) Nessel, noted Woodstock pianist and accordionist during February and March, The Freeman learned today.

It will be the second time that Mrs. Nessel will have given concerts in Costa Rica for in November of 1955, at the express request of the Rev. Benjamin Nunez, the Costa Rican ambassador to the United Nations, she conducted a concert tour in that country. She will be accompanied on the tour by her husband, Vere.

Official Is Guest

Assisting in the formulation of travel plans is Jose F. Carballo, Consul General of Costa Rica, who was a recent weekend guest at the Nessel's home in Woodstock.

Visiting also at the time were Dr. Joseph Thomas, native of Baghdad, Iraq, who is now on the staff of the Bellevue Hospital in New York City; Mr. Carballo's children, Maria, 16 and Jose, 17; Mr. Carballo's sister, Mrs. Claudio Cruz Zaniboni and her son, Fernando, 6.

Mrs. Nessel's trip this year will be further highlighted by a stop-over in Mexico City at the vacation home of her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Heineman of Port Clinton, Ohio. Arrangements have already been completed for Mrs. Nessel to play in both Mexico City and Guadalajara, Mexico.

San Jose Concert

When Mrs. Nessel reaches Costa Rica, she will give a concert in San Jose before the diplomatic group.

In 1955, a concert was given by Mrs. Nessel in Costa Rica before a presidential gathering at the home of Louis Alberto Monge, secretary of state.

While in San Jose, Mrs. Nessel also gave many benefit concerts for charitable organizations. She was accompanied on her first trip to Costa Rica by Miss Margarita Guardia, daughter of the chief justice of that country.

Played for Roosevelt

Mrs. Nessel has had extensive experience in the musical world. She has appeared as guest artist over the major networks and has performed solo work for the Paramount and Capital Theatres in New York City.

One of the most outstanding distinctions held by Mrs. Nessel is that of performing at one of the inaugurations of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Clementine Nessel has also played with Phil Spiltany's Concert Orchestra and has made several trips to Europe with Ben Bernie's Leviathan Orchestra. She studied with the famous Edward Schirner and conducts a music school of her own giving piano and accordion instruction.

Mrs. Nessel is a member of Musicians' Union, Local 215, American Federation of Musicians, and assistant to the president, John Cole.

Mr. and Mrs. Nessel plan to depart on February 3.

Dutchess Orchestra Lauded on Concert

Ole Windingstad, conductor of the Dutchess County Philharmonic Orchestra drew only laudatory comments after the concert given in Poughkeepsie High School Wednesday.

The capacity audience showered equal praises upon Rudolf Firkusny, pianist, and members of the orchestra.

Mr. Firkusny was particularly commended for his piano technique and interpretation.

The program, which the audience so thoroughly enjoyed, included Weber's "Overture to Oberon," Tchaikovsky's "Symphony Pathetique," and Beethoven's, "Piano Concerto No. 3."

RETURN OF AN ENGAGEMENT PRESENT

Dear Mrs. Post: A friend of ours became engaged several months ago and we sent his fiancee a very lovely (and quite expensive) present. The engagement has since been broken and I have heard that she has returned all the presents. However, I haven't received mine and I am wondering if a note telling her so would be in order?

Answer: Try to find someone who knows her well, who could explain to her that you have heard she has returned all her engagement presents but as you have not received yours, you are wondering if possibly it could have been sent by mistake to someone else.

Is a Double Shower Necessary

Dear Mrs. Post: A friend of mine and her sister are going to be married this spring at a double wedding. I would like to give a shower for my friend but do not feel I am that friendly with her sister to give a shower for her, too. Could it possibly hurt the sister's feelings if I gave the shower for my friend alone or must I make it a double shower or none at all

Answer: If you know very few of her sister's friends you can explain to her this obvious reason why you cannot make the shower a double one.

Concerning Flowers at a Wedding

Dear Mrs. Post: Are all white flowers the only correct ones to use as decoration at a church wedding? The altar of our church (a very beautiful one) is all white marble and white flowers can hardly be seen against it. I thought of using colored flowers (such as a light pink or yellow) for decorating the altar. Would this be in good taste?

Answer: Light colors instead of white are premissible but be careful not to have their effect one that will detract from the dresses and the flowers carried by the bridesmaids.

Have you given yourself an etiquette test lately? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. However, her leaflet E-18, "Questions in Etiquette Test," includes a list of popular questions and answers. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to Dept. EP, in care of The Freeman, P. O. Hurley Women Make Appeal for Cancer Work Materials Here

Mrs. Wilfred Palen, spokesman for the Hurley Women's Cancer Pad Project, told The Freeman today that materials with which to carry on the project are desperately needed.

"We can use any type of shirts, sheets, towels, even old nylon slips," Mrs. Palen said. "Any and all of these can be used to advantage for cancer patients in the area."

Those in the community who wish to donate materials are asked to contact Mrs. Frank Krutzfeldt of Hurley for more detailed information.

An April wedding is planned.

Gettysburg College Choir Will Sing In Red Hook Concert

The A Cappella Choir of Gettysburg College, located in historic Gettysburg, Pa., will present a concert of sacred music at St. Paul's Lutheran Church, 57 South Broadway, Red Hook, on Monday, Feb. 3, at 8 p. m.

This 60-voice choir, rated by critics high among the select choral groups of the East, will appear this season in an extended concert tour throughout the Eastern States. In addition to its concert work, the choir made numerous radio and television appearances together with several recordings.

The Gettysburg Choir sang at the Lutheran World Federation Convention held in Minneapolis, Minn., in August as the official representative of the United Lutheran Church in America. Many of the numbers included in their present program were presented before the world assembly numbering more than 10,000 persons.

Professor B. Wagnild has gained widespread recognition as one of today's foremost choral conductors. In leading his group, he displays an outstanding skill of interpretation which raises each concert above the level of technical excellence to a spiritual quality which harmonizes perfectly with the beautiful church settings in which the choir usually performs.

The program, which includes a variety of choral works ranging from Palestrina to Christiansen, Karl Graun and Bach, is as follows: "Hodie Christus Natus Est" by Palestrina; "How Fair the Church of Christ Shall Stand" by Schumann-Christiansen; "Benedictus" by E. Paladilhe; "Surely He Hath Born Our Griefs" by Karl Graun; "Sketches From Revelation" by Paul Christiansen.

Professor Wagnild is founder and director of the choir. He heads the College Music Department. Professor Wagnild came to Gettysburg College in 1935. He was born in Minnesota and later moved to Saskatchewan, Canada. He attended St. Olaf College, in Northfield, Minnesota, and was a member of the world famous St. Olaf Choir, under the direction of F. Melius Christiansen. Professor Wagnild received a Master of Sacred Music degree from Union Theological Seminary and a Master of Arts degree from New York University.

The general public is cordially invited to attend the concert in Red Hook, and a free-will offering will be received at the concert as the only admission charge.

Charity Ball Will Benefit All Groups In Kingston Area

To further the non-sectarian charity work accomplished by members of Knights of Columbus, Council 275, a Charity Ball will be held Saturday, Feb. 8, at the Governor Clinton Hotel for this purpose.

This announcement was made by Bernard F. O'Neil, publicity chairman for the event.

Assisting in the preparations are John J. Tancredi, honorary chairman; Edward Ahl, general chairman; Mr. Ahl and Francis A. Reis, tickets; Thomas L. Cloonan, reception.

Irving Berlin Music Is Heard By Music Appreciation Group

The Music Appreciation Group met Jan. 16 at the home of Mrs. Kenneth N. Alexander. Mrs. John Sterley presented a program on Irving Berlin.

Irving Berlin, born Israel Baline, in Russia, grew up on the lower east side of New York and ran away from home at the age of 14 to become a singing troubador. He wrote his first song in 1906 and strangely he wrote the lyrics and not the music. Irving Berlin is somewhat of a miracle man she said.

The speaker added that Mr. Berlin had no musical education, in fact little education of any sort.

"He can play the piano in only one key, F sharp. His tunes have to be transcribed by a secretary and yet he has written more than 1,000 songs, most of them "hits" and many just as popular today as when they were first written," Mrs. Alexander continued.

According to Mrs. Alexander "Berlin says there are only seven or eight basic melodies put together in different ways." She added that the renown composer always pointed out that there is no such thing as a new melody. "My work is to connect the old phrases in a new way."

A few of Mr. Berlin's popular works are scores from the shows "Annie Get Your Gun," "Call Me Madam," and the ever popular "White Christmas." The speaker added that according to Kate Smith she refers to Mr. Berlin's "God Bless America" as the second Star Spangled Banner.

Mr. Berlin's work, the speaker continued, for and with the armed forces, is known the world over and his untiring efforts won him the Medal of Merit. Mrs. Alexander concluded that his courtship and marriage to Ellin Mackay inspired Mr. Berlin to write "Remember."

Co-hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. Alexander and Mrs. R. N. Bernard Obenaus.

Mrs. Robert H. Pixley presided at the tea table.

Miss Shultis Makes Dean's List

Miss Elva A. Shultis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Newton L. Shultis of Bearsville, is on the current Dean's List at Drew University, Madison, N. J. This honor is based on her academic achievements for the first semester of the present school year.

Miss Shultis, graduate of Kingston High School, is a junior in Drew's College of Liberal Arts. She is concentrating in chemistry.

Mrs. Frederick Hyde Re-Elected President By Church Women

At the January meeting of Kingston Council of United Church Women, Mrs. Frederick Hyde was re-elected president.

Also re-elected were Miss Ethel Hull, first vice president; Mrs. Clayton Smith, second vice president; Mrs. C. V. Gunther, treasurer; Mrs. Frank Elmendorf, secretary; Mrs. S. B. Chappell, publicity chairman.

The first regular meeting will be held Monday, Feb. 3 at 7:30 p. m. in the First Baptist Church on Albany Avenue. Plans will then be discussed for the annual World Day of Prayer which has been scheduled for February 21 this year at the Old Dutch Church.

Devotions for the February 3 meeting will be in charge of Mrs. S. B. Chappell.

The office of Dr. Francis LoGalbo will be located at 70 St. James St. as of February 1, 1958

KHS Students Will Offer Varied Program In Concert Friday

Hermann's "Ballet for Young Americans," will offer delightful listening when it is performed by the Kingston High School Band in their concert Friday at the school.

Divided into five parts, the work tells the story of a teenager and the most important highlights of his life. The parts include the overture, daydreaming, first driving lesson, prom night, and graduation.

Selections in the popular vein and outstanding marches will also be played.

Making a guest appearance on the program will be the Oneonta High School Concert Band.

Both bands will combine to play the finale.

Public is cordially invited to attend. The concert will begin at 8 p. m. with Marlin Morrette conducting the Kingston group.

Whomever Will Be A Bride

Is it correct "whomever" or "whoever?" Let's say both can be o. k. to use, if you aren't an English teacher yourself!

But to get back to the bride, I merely tried to use a good opening sentence to get the attention of you girls who are contemplating marriage and are wondering where to go to get your Bridal Gown . . . and Gowns for your Bridesmaids.

Well, let's say that you should definitely try Scott's Bridal Department at 297 Wall street in uptown Kingston. While you're there, speak to Doreen, the bridal consultant; and whether you want a formal or an informal wedding, you can be certain this gal knows the answer as far as wedding outfits are concerned!

One more thing: for Bridesmaids and Flower Girl dresses, there are group discounts — so by buying at SCOTT'S you can save — $5.00 on each gown! This is no joke—so by now you should be really interested.

So stop in, and our bridal consultant will be only too happy to show you our wedding clothes.

McCormack-Moseley Nuptials

Miss Nancy Veronica McCormack, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel P. McCormack of St. Remy, exchanged marriage vows with Jack Vernon Moseley, son of Mrs. Mary Moseley of Creek Locks on Sunday, Jan. 26 at 4 p. m. in the Immanual Lutheran Church.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a white gown of embroidered tulle over satin styled with long sleeves, portrait "V" neckline, and bouffant ballerina length skirt. Her nylon tulle veil fell from a white seeded pearl clip headpiece. She carried a nosegay of white carnations and gladioli.

Miss Pauline Catherine McCormack was the maid of honor for her sister. She wore a powder blue taffeta gown styled with a portrait "V" neckline and very bouffant skirt. In her hair she wore a clip and she carried pink carnations and gladioli.

William F. Moseley of Ulster Park served as best man for his brother. Usher was George Cole of Creek Locks, brother-in-law of the bridegroom.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents for approximately 60 guests.

The bride was graduated from Kingston High School and is employed by Bantam Toys Inc. in Kingston. Her husband, who attended schools in Hillsdale, New York, is employed by the same company.

When Mr. and Mrs. Moseley return from their wedding trip, they will make their home in St. Remy.

3 Cars Collide In Skid Today Near Mt. Marion

Three cars were involved in two accidents about 8 o'clock this morning near Mt. Marion where they skidded on an icy spot at the same location. One of the drivers was shaken up but otherwise uninjured.

Thomas Clarke, 40, of Mt. Marion, driving a 1953 Chevrolet struck an icy patch of highway while traveling west on the Glasco Turnpike. His car left the road and struck a guard rail. Clarke was thrown from the car but escaped serious injury, state police reported.

The second accident happened at the same location at about the same time and involved two cars. John O'Keefe, 32, Mt. Marion, driving a 1957 Oldsmobile west went off the road and struck a snow bank. A 1956 stationwagon operated by Frank Greco, 40, Mt. Marion, also going west skidded on the ice and the two cars came together. The O'Keefe car was damaged about the left side. None of the occupants was injured, state police reported.

From both Highland and Ellenville state police came reports of wet slippery roads but no accidents were reported to either station.

Air Reassessment At Tillson Civic Meeting Tonight

Reassessment for the Town of Rosendale by a professional assessor will be aired at a meeting of Tillson Civic Association this evening at 8 o'clock in Tillson fire hall.

Petitions sponsored by the association urging the Town Board to hire a professional assessment firm to reassess all real property in the Town of Rosendale, some 10,912 acres, have been in circulation throughout the township for over two weeks.

The committee for reassessment is making every effort to obtain a large attendance.

Estimate Is High

A committee spokesman told The Freeman this morning, it was previously announced that the cost of reassessment would be approximately $20,000. This figure seems rather large in view of the fact that the village of Saugerties was reassessed by an Albany firm for $8,500 a few years ago, the committee spokesman said. The Saugerties village is comprised of 1,300 parcels.

He pointed out that true estimates of costs are only given by professional assessor firms when bids are asked for the project.

Fred Feidler, town assessor will attend the meeting and explain the current method of assessing real property in the township.

Persons unable to attend the meeting and wishing to sign a petition may contact Frank Sheehan of Tillson or Gunther Newman of Rosendale.

YOUNG AT HEART—Never too old to learn, Smith W. Buxton, 91, a retired schoolteacher, takes over his bridegroom duties with a smile as he does the dishes with his bride and one-time pupil, Mrs. Ida Wood, 72, at Poultney, Vt. They have known each other since the new Mrs. Buxton was eight years old and attended the one-room school where Buxton then taught. (NEA Telephoto)

GOING HOME—Russia's Georgi Zaroubin raises his arms in what appears to be a jovial farewell gesture before sailing from New York aboard the liner Queen Elizabeth for home. Zaroubin, former ambassador to the U. S., is to take over the post of deputy foreign minister in charge of foreign office personnel. He is being replaced in Washington by Mikhail A. Menshikov, until recently Russia's ambassador to India. (NEA Telephoto)

Woodstock Foundation Cites Three for $1,000 in Awards

Three Woodstock area residents have been cited for awards totalling $1,000 in the Woodstock Foundation's tenth annual awards E. N. Goddard, Foundation president, announced Wednesday.

Mrs. Barbara Moncure of Bearsville, who receives the $400 Sidney Berkowitz Memorial grant for her work in folk music.

The 1958 awards mark the tenth anniversary of the grants since the Foundation movement was started by the late Sidney Berkowitz and other interested persons.

Money for the awards is collected by means of the annual play which is produced by the Foundation at the Woodstock Playhouse. The financial success of the annual promotion determines the amount awarded in grants for that year.

Mrs. Moncure, who is a widow and mother of two children, has made great strides in folk music in recent years and has attracted widespread attention for her technique in this field. She is reported working out an act with a ballet dancer and has a couple of bookings in New York City.

Mrs. Cantine has the distinction of being included in Auden's Book of Modern American Verse and is widely known in her field.

May Change Rules

Applications for awards must be submitted in writing according to Foundation rules and applicants must be residents of the township of Woodstock and be under 40 years of age.

The age limit of 40 is written in the by-laws, but there is strong sentiment for a change in these qualifications. Those who favor a change point out that there are many worthy candidates 40 years and older.

It is reported that the Foundation's officers and trustees may consider a change in the rule at a future meeting.

The 1957 winners were Gladys Pate and Robert Angeloch in painting and Dick Meyer in puppetry.

Money for this year's awards was raised through the Foundation play "Gold in the Hills," which was directed by Houston Richards in September, 1957.

Mrs. D. Zimmerman Named Superintendent

Mrs. Donald Zimmerman was elected superintendent of the Sunday School of Christ Lutheran Church at a meeting of the teachers recently.

Mrs. Montcena De Witt was named assistant superintendent and also deisgnated corresponding and recording secretary. Marlin Klinger was elected treasurer and Albert C. Holumzer was chosen attendance secretary. Mrs. Erwin Holumzer was named pianist.

Plans for a special Easter service will be formulated at a meeting on Tuesday, Feb. 11, at 8 p. m.

Sermon Topic Given By Rev. G. O. Sands

'The Reward of Faithfulness' as given in Jesus' Parable of the Talents (St. Matt. 25:21) is the chosen theme for the morning sermon by the Rev. G. Oliver Sands at the 11 a. m. service on Sunday, Feb. 2, (Septuagesima Sunday) in Christ Lutheran Church, Woodstock.

'Privileges of Church Membership' as set forth in I Peter 2:9-10; II Cor. 9:6-8; Gal. 6:1-5 and Heb. 4:14-16; 10:23-25 is the basis for discussion in Sunday School classes at 9:45 a. m. this Sunday.

The Luther League plans to meet with Miss Annette Dietz on Monday, Feb. 3, at 7:30 p. m.

The regular Bible study group meets on Wednesday evening, Feb. 5.

The United Lutheran Church women meet on Thursday, Feb. 6, with Mrs. Victor N. Lasher as hostess. Members are asked to bring items for the bazaar on Aug. 7.

Juniors and Young People have choir rehearsal at 7 p. m. and the Senior Choir meets at 7:45 p. m.

Leaders Named For Troop No. 27

Mrs. Thomas C. Horsey Jr. and Mrs. Ben Merch are the new leaders of Brownie Troop No. 27 Woodstock-West Hurley Neighborhood division of the Ulster County Council of Girl Scouts.

Mrs. Horsey, whose daughter, Susan, is a Girl Scout in Troop 96, has had considerable experience in the Girl Scout movement. She was formerly a member of the Black Hawk Council in Madison, Wisconsin, where she served on the public relations committee and was also Neighborhood assistant chairman. Mrs. Horsey also has had basic training in Scout leadership, a Camping Course, and has been a leader of an Intermediate Girl Scout Troop.

Mrs. Merch, the other co-leader, has had the basic training course in leadership and has been assistant leader of a Brownie Troop at Colonie, near Albany.

Brownie Troop No. 46, Jean Albrecht and Doris Larson, leaders, are planning and rehearsing a play which is to be given at the Juliet Lowe birthday party in March.

Brownie Troop No. 95, Mary VandeBogart and Doris Bellinger, leaders, are working on Health and Safety; and are planning to make personal health charts for February.

Intermediate Troop No. 27, under the leadership of Ilsa Stern and Helen Strickland, heard a lecture on International Scouting by Ingrid Carroll, formerly of Sweden. They are also studying knot craft.

Intermediate Troop No. 96, Betty Schwarz and Audrey Gurland, leaders, are conducting a story-hour in kindergarten once a week and are also working on the Good Grooming Badge.

Intermediate Troop No. 74, Alice Marr and Dorothy Hughes, leaders, are working on the Curved Bar requirements.

Brownie Troops No. 44 and No. 89, Mrs. John Blatter and Mrs. Arthur Knight, leaders, are studying astronomy.

Intermediate Troop No. 79, Mrs. David Fox and Mrs. Evelyn Seaman, leaders, are working on the Dabbler Badge, Magic Carpet Badge, Needlecraft Badge and Seamstress Badge. They have also made puppets and recently produced a show. They are now planning a folklore play.

Forums on Faith At Reformed Church

The fourth in a series of forums on the Christian faith and life will be held in the basement of the Woodstock Reformed Church on Sunday evening, Feb. 2, at 7:30 p. m. The subject will be the faith and life of the primitive church down to the time of Constantine.

It was during this time that Christians underwent severe testing. The stories of their persecutions were made vivid to English readers through such books as "Quo Vadis" and "Ben Hur," and many others. Within the Christian churches sprang up numerous heresies or divisions as to what the real position Jesus should hold in the Christian faith and practice. How He is related to God and how He is related to man were questions which were troubling the Christian thinkers of those times. Everyone is cordially invited.

Says Many Will Drop Policies if Health Costs Jump

ALBANY (AP)—An insurance industry spokesman protested today that bills before the Legislature would increase health insurance costs to New Yorkers by up to 40 per cent.

J. Henry Smith of New York City told the Joint Legislative Committee on Health Insurance that its program would mean the end of low-cost health coverage in this state.

Smith assailed the committee's program in remarks prepared for a public hearing in the Senate chamber. He spoke for the American Life Convention, the Health Insurance Assn. of America and the Life Insurance Assn. of America.

The committee has introduced bills that would require insurance companies to write health policies for life—at a level premium, remaining constant over the years.

Other features would guarantee participants in group insurance plans the right to convert their policies when leaving their jobs or retiring. The idea is to assure coverage for older persons.

Gov. Harriman also has called for a mandatory conversion provision.

Smith said it had been estimated that individual policy premiums would be boosted by as much as 40 per cent by the life policy requirement.

Many persons would have to drop their policies, he said.

Smith also contended that the mandatory conversion principle would "put the brakes on" new group plans because it would raise costs substantially for employers.

Judge Revises Charges

BUFFALO (AP) — Hundreds of speeding convictions have been wiped from the records by a ruling of a city court judge.

Judge Willis G. Hickman yesterday upset the convictions of more than 400 motorists who had pleaded guilty to charges of speeding in school zones.

The judge said police radar cars used to detect speeders were not parked directly in front of school buildings.

He said state laws required a 15-mile-an-hour speed limit for drivers "when passing a school building." He rejected police arguments that the law referred to school zones and that patrolmen were trying to control traffic near the schools.

Judge Hickman said motorists convicted could have their licenses cleared but would have to seek repayment of fines from the State Motor Vehicle Department.

Vatican City is a tiny, but sovereign, state covering a walled-in area of less than 110 acres.

Uninsured Mishaps About Eliminated

Albany (AP) — The motor vehicles commissioner contended today that New York's new compulsory auto insurance law had "practically eliminated uninsured accidents."

Commissioner Joseph P. Kelly said 129 accidents involving uninsured vehicles registered in New York were reported to the bureau in the 11 months of 1957 that the law was in effect.

As a result of these accidents, Kelly said, registration plates and driver licenses of 163 owners and drivers were revoked for one year.

This compares, he added, with 69,912 registration and license suspensions against New Yorkers, as a result of uninsured accidents, in the 11-month period from Feb. 1 to Dec. 31, 1956.

The first 11 months experience, Kelly said, has "decisively demonstrated that, so far as New York-registered vehicles are concerned, our compulsory insurance law has practically eliminated uninsured accidents."

His Invention Helps

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—Before Dr. Lee De Forest, 84, the "father of radio," underwent removal of a bladder tumor yesterday, he asked what kind of surgical procedure would be used.

"Electro-dessication," Dr. W. L. Marker told him.

"Commonly spoken of as a hot wire," De Forest commented. "I invented it—in 1907."

Dr. Marker said the inventor is in good shape today.

Dr. Marker told a reporter the hot wire which coagulates blood as it removes tissue, has saved thousands of lives in prostate and bladder operations.

Saugerties School Studies Methods On Capable Pupils

For the past two months, the elementary teachers in Saugerties Central School System have been studying ways and means of dealing with the more capable pupil, according to Dr. Grant D. Morse, superintendent of Sauger schools.

All elementary teachers participated in discussion groups on this subject prior to Christmas. The groups are under the leadership of Norman Bolinder, Patrick Buonfiglio, Edward Leonard, and Dean Bullock. The last three are principals in the following respective schools: Glasco, Mt. Marion, and Malden.

Brochure Prepared

The committee, consisting of these four men, has prepared a seven-page brochure setting forth the best thinking of the committee and of the teachers on the staff with respect to this subject.

Highlights of the brochure take the form of recommendations to the teaching staff:

1. The so-called capable pupil may not be equally capable in all subjects.
2. Don't underestimate the capacity of the capable pupil. He is prone to work at a high level, especially if he wholeheartedly accepts or personally initiates a given project.
3. Exclude the capable pupil from any work which has been planned for the average and which he already understands.
4. Insist upon a high level of performance from the capable pupil. For example, he should become expert in note taking, outlining, compiling data, experimentation, generalizing, drawing conclusions, submitting neatly written work.

Should Be Creative

5. The capable pupil should create rather than imitate.
6. The capable pupil can contribute much to planning.
7. He should compete with himself, not with less capable pupils.
8. He should be given a frequent opportunity to report on his personal achievement.
9. He should frequently be given the opportunity to assume responsibility.

Skits, Awards Are Features of Cub 19 Meeting

Skits concerning motion pictures, the awarding of two Webelos badges, two graduations, induction of five new members, official inspections, and motion pictures of pack activities made a full schedule for the January pack meetings of the Cub Pack 19, sponsored by the Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 1386.

New Cub Scouts and their parents included Robert Wells, Kevin MacCollam, Stanley Albright, Michael Cahill, and Richard Cole.

Recipients of the highest award in Cub Scouting, the Webelos badge, were John Fisk of Den 2 and Robert Baltz of Den 3. Following the ceremony of the Webelos, Cub Scout John Fisk was graduated into Boy Scout Troop 6, First Baptist Church, and received by Scoutmaster David Lasher. Cub Scout Robert Baltz was graduated into Boy Scout Troop 9, Redeemer Lutheran Church, and received by Scoutmaster William Daum. Both graduating Cub Scouts received their doodle strings and gifts from their Dens, presented by Den Chiefs John Schleede and James Connelly.

The annual official inspection of Cub Pack 19 was conducted by Richard Stewart, Neighborhood Commissioner of the Rip Van Winkle Council, Boy Scouts of America. The entire unit received 98 per cent in inspections, with Den 2, Helen Edge den mother, receiving 100 per cent for all members. Commissioner Stewart complimented the members of Pack 19 on the neat and attractive appearance of the group.

Former Neighborhood Commissioner Edward Leudtke was introduced by the Cubmaster.

Each den of the pack presented skits following the motion picture theme of the month. During the month the dens visited the local motion picture theatre as guests of the management, and were shown the processes utilized in the presentation of motion pictures. The Frank Rittie family planned the month's activities, which included an educational tour of radio station WKNY.

Opening flag ceremonies were presented by Dens 3 and 6, with Dens 1 and 4 serving refreshments. Den Chiefs Phillips Eighmey, James Connelly, Richard Showers, Michael Drummond, James Herdman and Frank Rittie were in charge of these activities.

The annual Blue and Gold Banquet will be held Wednesday, Feb. 26, at the Elk's Club on Fair Street, for both units of Pack 19, starting at 6:30 p. m.

Awards for Month

Den 1, Betty Eighmey, den mother: silver arrows to Charles Bonomo, Joseph Romano, Carl Schleede, Brian Elmendorf; one year star to Allan Coddington; Bobcat pin, wolf badge, and gold arrow to Robert Wells.

Den 2, Helen Edge, den mother: silver arrow, Webelos badge, graduation certificate to John Fisk; Bobcat pin to Kevin MacCollam; silver arrows to Robert Fisk and Peter Lewis.

Den 3, Nancy Romano, den mother: (100 per cent awards) gold arrows to Richard Remus and William Buddenhagen; silver arrows to Paul Geary, Glen Connelly, Thomas Dwyer, John Baltz, John Senor; Webelos badge and graduation to Robert Baltz.

Den 6, Jean Long den mother: silver arrows to George Barnes, John Barnes, and Joseph Curlin; gold arrow to Shawn Swartzmiller; Bobcat pin to Richard Cole; one year stars to John Frasch and John Viano; one year perfect attendance pin to John Frasch; silver arrow to John Viano.

Record, Maybe

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — E. J. Pontifex thinks perhaps he is on the losing end of a record of some kind. He reported to police the theft of two hubcaps from his car—the 20th and 21st stolen from him in a year.

TEAMWORK MAKES A MISSILE---

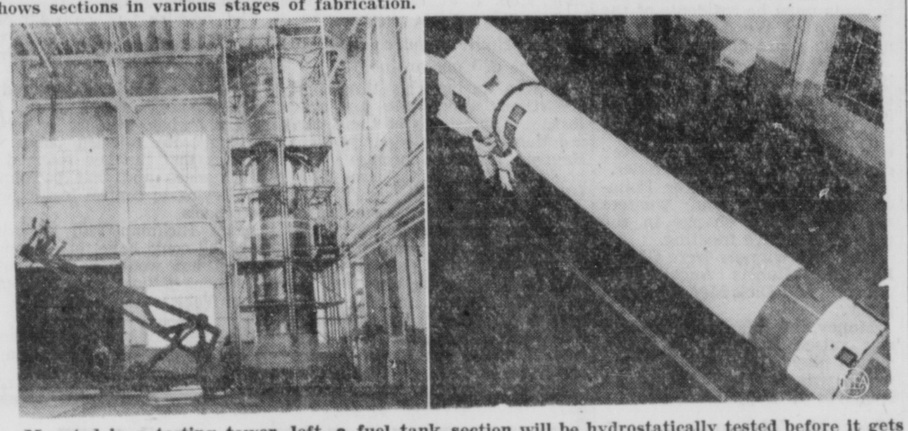

Below are illustrations from what Defense Department officials called the "most detailed report ever written on the fabrication of a ballistic missile"—a report recently printed by Steel Magazine. A Redstone is made in three major sections—(1) nose cone and head section contain warhead and instruments to keep the big shell in its path; (2) center section contains two fuel tanks for the alcohol and liquid oxygen propellants; (3) rear section holds the fins, rudders and power plant. The missile shell is made of aluminum alloy sheets welded together. Every inch of weld is X-rayed for porosity. Photos show fabrication of the shell at Reynolds Metal Company's Sheffield, Ala., plant. Chrysler Corporation, Detroit, is the prime contractor. Others on the four-firm team are North American Aviation Corporation, Los Angeles, which builds the power plant and Ford Instrument Company, Long Island City, N. Y., which provides the instrumentation.

Sheet of aluminum alloy, left, covered with protective adhesive paper, is rolled into a cylinder. With ends welded together and stiffener rings added, it will become part of the fuel tank section. At right, the last circumferential weld is made on the section.

Mounted in a testing tower, left, a fuel tank section will be hydrostatically tested before it gets final O.K. At right, to prepare a missile for shipment, workmen seal all openings. Fuel tanks are cleaned by hand, then filled with carbon tetrachloride and rotated for eight hours to be sure they are chemically clean.

Solon Asks Big Bomber Output

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Jackson (D-Wash) today urged a big spurt in bomber production as one of the "things we need to do immediately to stay alive."

Jackson, a frequent critic of administration defense policies, also called for a quick stepup in production of long range missiles and nuclear submarines capable of firing such missiles. And he said the Army should be built up.

In a speech prepared for the Senate, Jackson said the United States has lost "our two precious allies in past wars—time in which to mobilize, and distance to protect our homeland." He added:

Jackson, a member of the Senate Armed Services Committee, said that "no longer can we afford the luxury of second guessing our requirements. In the missile age, it is the first guess that counts."

Crediting Russia with producing more long range missiles faster, Jackson said "the one and only way to fill the gap is by more longrange manned bombers," and added:

"My own belief is that at least one billion dollars could now be profitably budgeted for this purpose."

Bed, Table Damaged

A fire, attributed to a cigarette, damaged a bed and small table in the home of William Ellsworth, 82 Spring Street, yesterday afternoon. Firemen were called at 3:09 p. m., and reported that the blaze apparently started in a mattress when Mr. Ellsworth fell asleep while smoking. The mattress was removed from the house.

Saving Money To Be Concern Of Paltz Group

"Stretching the School Dollar" will be the topic of discussion for the first in a series of four Mid-Hudson School Board Institute meetings to be held at the State University Teachers College, New Paltz, Tuesday.

According to Dr. Harold M. Elsbree, Professor of Education, who is Executive Secretary of the Mid-Hudson School Study Council, this meeting was originally scheduled for January 15, but was postponed because of bad weather.

Three guest speakers are scheduled for the first program. Dexter Tilroe, a supervisor in the Division of Secondary Education, State Education Department, will discuss the topic from the point of view of instructional services. Fred Luchsinger, School Business Manager of the North Syracuse Central School, will talk about the school dollar in an address entitled "Tricks of the Trade". The third speaker will be James E. Lanigan, president of the Board of Education in Fulton, and he will express his ideas from the point of view of a school board member. He also is president of the New York State School Boards Association.

Kegan Moderator

E. Joseph Kegan, superintendent of the Wappingers Central School, will act as moderator.

Dr. Elsbree explained that these institutes are open to all boards of education in the Mid-Hudson area, and he expects schools to attend the first meeting which is scheduled to begin at 7 p. m. with a dinner, followed by the speakers at 8:15 p. m.

Other institutes scheduled in this series and the topics to be discussed are Feb. 20, "Where Can We Get The Money?"; March 20, "School Organization-Reorganization"; and April 16, "Quality is Economy in Staffing."

These institutes are being sponsored by the Mid-Hudson School Study Council in cooperation with the New York State School Boards Association and the State University Teachers College at New Paltz.

Port Ewen Man Gets IBM Post In Kansas City

ROBERT F. TERWILLIGER

International Business Machines Corporation today announced the appointment of Robert F. Terwilliger, of Port Ewen, as manager of field engineering administrative services at the Kansas City Air Defense Sector SAGE computer site.

Terwilliger joined IBM at Poughkeepsie in the receiving department in October, 1951. Following two years service with the U. S. Army, he returned in March, 1955, to the company at IBM Kingston's receiving and shipping field service department.

Transferred to the IBM Master Parts Depot at Kingston in February, 1957, he was assigned to parts planning and control in the following May.

A graduate of Kingston High School, Terwilliger is a member of the Kingston YMCA and American Legion Post No. 1298, Port Ewen.

Mothers' March Collects $1,310, Less Than 1957

The Mother's March on Polio Wednesday night in the Town of Saugerties collected $1,310, approximately $200 short of last year's total, with six communities unreported, it was announced by John W. Davis, town chairman.

Areas which have not reported included Centerville, Fish Creek, Blue Mountain, West Saugerties, Mt. Marion and the three housing developments at Barclay Heights.

Davis said this morning that if returns from the unreported communities average close to last year's collections, the Mother's March total should reach the $1,500 figure of last year.

Other features of the Saugerties campaign expected to swell the grand total, include the benefit gasoline sale last Saturday at Paul's Service Station, Route 9W and 32, Barclay Heights; the coin collection in a huge layer cake displayed at the Corner Bakery; more than 1,000 coin collection folders mailed to township residents and 61 counter canisters placed in Saugerties area business establishments.

Sawyer Yearbook Sets Benefit for Feb. 5-6

Saugerties High School yearbook, the Sawyer, is presenting its annual benefit movie Wednesday and Thursday, Feb. 5 and 6, at the Saugerties Orpheum Theatre.

Combining humor, adventure and romance, "The Happy Road" tells the story of an American boy and a little French girl who run away from school in Switzerland to see their families in Paris. Their adventures as they make their way to Paris via water-bike, barge and trucks, culminating in an all-Europe bicycle race are both suspenseful and hilarious. Brigitte Fossey and Bobby Clark are the two youngsters who support actor-producer Gene Kelly and glamorous Barbara Lange. "The Happy Road" was filmed entirely on locations in the south of France against settings of picturesque landscapes and medieval towns.

There will be two evening shows, and a matinee on Thursday. Tickets may be secured from any one of the Sawyer salesmen.

West Camp Lutherans To Hold Family Night

A family night for the congregation and friends of St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran Church, West Camp will be held Sunday beginning at 5 p. m in the parish hall.

A covered dish supper will be served at 6 p. m. A mission study program on Japan will be presented by Mrs. Alvin F. Messersmith. A motion picture, "Fujita of Japan" will be shown depicting Lutheran mission work in Japan.

Council of Churches Adopts Constitution

The final draft of the constitution and by-laws presented by Dr. Henry J. Arnold, vice-president was unanimously adopted this week at the dinner meeting of Saugerties Area Council of Churches at the Congregational Church.

All eight churches comprising the council were represented by pastors and several laymen at the dinner served by the ladies of the church.

The Rev. Harold E. Pangburn, pastor of Saugerties Reformed Church was elected second vice-president.

Considerable time was given to a discussion of the efforts of Dr. Arthur Oudemool, pastor of the Old Dutch Church of Kingston, to enlist the help of State Investigating Commissioner Arthur F. Reuter and his staff, in curbing the unlawful sale of alcoholic beverages to underage youth in Ulster County. It was decided to invite Dr. Oudemool to address the members of the council at a subsequent meeting. The secretary was instructed to extend the invitation to the Kingston pastor.

The temporary committee on religious education was requested to take the necessary steps to set up released time classes for the Protestant pupils in the Glasco district as urged by the parents of these pupils. As soon as the permanent committee on religious education is organized, further efforts in providing released time religious instruction will be put forth.

It was voted to hold the February meeting of the council at Flatbush Reformed Church, the Rev. James Blane, pastor, Monday, Feb. 24 at 6 p. m. The Rev. Frederick Imhoff, pastor of host church, presided.

Adult Education Plans Discussion Course

Saugerties Central Schools Adult Education Program will offer a "Great Decisions . . . 1958" discussion course beginning February 3.

Topics to be considered will be concerned with avoiding war with Russia, U. S. security, cooperation with our Western allies, conditions in the Middle East, the awakening of Africa, the U. S. economic policy, relations with Red China, and the United Nations.

Classes will be held Monday evenings from 7:30-9:30 p. m. in the Main Street School under the supervision of Malcolm Bump, social studies supervisor. The materials to be used have been prepared by the Foreign Policy Association. Registration may be made at the time of the first class meeting on February 3, or by telephoning Miss A. Frances Larned, assistant director of adult education, during school hours.

Science for Laymen Adult Class Slated

A new course, "Elementary Science for Laymen", will be offered by the Saugerties Central Schools Adult Education program.

David Jones, Saugerties High School science instructor who has earned a Master's Degree from Cornell University, will teach the course. The course will include elementary information concerning geology, biology, and physics. The first class will be held Tuesday, Feb. 4 from 3:40-5 p. m. in room 56 of the Main Street School.

Other class sessions will be held during the same hours on subsequent Tuesdays. Registration may be made at the first class session or by telephoning Miss A. Frances Larned, assistant director of Adult Education, during school hours.

Following the usual opening ceremony at the Lions Club meeting this week, Kenneth Beadle, president, announced that William C. Plimley, chairman of the forthcoming Lions minstral show, had undergone surgery over the weekend at St. Peter's Hospital, Albany and is showing signs of a speedy recovery.

An informal discussion on the merits of education by Attorney Louis P. Francello and Ben Fein may possibly motivate the presentation of a debate on the subject in the near future.

Peter Pocalyko, district commissioner of Saugerties District Boy Scouts was welcomed as a new member. John J. Kaminski attended as a guest and was introduced by Edward Feldmann.

Science Refresher

The course will survey the field of science and is available to anyone who wishes to take it —laymen and teachers alike. It will be taught by David Jones of the high school science faculty, who holds the master of science degree from Cornell University.

Thought Is Bar to Overbidding

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

Here is another duplicate hand that is interesting only as a problem in bidding. The problem is an unusual one: How can North and South stay out of game?

At all tables North opened one spade and South responded two diamonds. A few Norths rebid to two spades and one optimistically rebid to three spades and then jumped to five diamonds over South's four clubs. Still others bid four diamonds whereupon South continued to five.

However, most North players properly bid three diamonds and here is where most South players went wrong. They bid four clubs. Invariably North interpreted this bid as showing the ace and would jump to five diamonds.

At the one table where North and South managed to stay out of game South did a lot of thinking after North raised to three diamonds. South said to himself, "I have a maximum pass and a lot of playing strength but maybe it will be wasted. North can easily hold a couple of small hearts and a losing club. I am not going to bother about notrump and I am not going to fool with a club bid. My hand is worth one more bid and that bid is four diamonds."

Now North did some studying of his own and came to the conclusion that South could not hold an ace and also could not hold the kings of both unbid suits. Hence, five diamonds was out of the question and it seemed silly to bid four spades. North passed and obtained a top score.

Slezak an Eater, Fat No Barrier To Getting Work

A procine 270 pounds, the actor is fat and likes it. This may come as a shock to the melba toast nibblers and the shortcake shunners, but it's true.

"I simply like the good things in life too much," he explained, 'and that means eating and drinking. Oddly enough, I am an erratic eater during the day. I may have just a bite for breakfast and catch a fast lunch. But dinner—ah! that is when I lose my head.

"I also like to drink, though I never get drunk. I always eat when I drink—perhaps that is the secret. I have a couple of highballs before dinner and a bottle of beer or two with it."

Slezak is here from his eastern home to do a Playhouse 90 on CBS-TV tonight and he interrupted rehearsals to enjoy a hearty lunch: bloody Mary, chicken, liver omelette, etc.

"Seven calories," he said, holding up a whole wheat cracker before popping it into his mouth. "You see, I know the calorie count of every item of food. But I don't let it bother me.

"Oh, I used to hold my weight down. When I was a leading man in Europe, I once went to a Swiss sanitorium because I felt I should be slimmer. They took the weight off scientifically and I dropped from 185 to 165 pounds.

"But when I came out, I was like a lion, snarling at everyone. Since reducing did that to me, I said to hell with it, let it spread. I got fat and I've been finding roles steadily for the past 15 years."

"Of course. Every one of them does. They say I will live longer if I take off weight. And I must pay about seven per cent more in insurance premiums, which would be reduced if I became 50 pounds lighter for six months.

"But I think they are sticking blindly to statistics. I've known a lot of fat men who have lived to be 70 and 80 years old and a lot of skinny ones who have died young. Look at Ezio Pinza (his co-star in 'Fanny.') He didn't have an ounce of fat on him.

"My theory is that tension and frustration can do more to shorten your life than overweight. Ive seen too many people become miserable because they constantly watched their weight. That's not for me."

Long Line Waits For 99 Cent Cars

FLINT, Mich. (AP)—A Flint used car dealer is selling four cars for 99 cents each and another four for $99 apiece tomorrow.

The cars have been completely reconditioned and are in good shape. The 99-centers have a retail value of $250. The 99-dollar jobs are worth about $500.

The only woman in line is Mrs. Sandra Hollingshead, a mother of three, who was laid off from the General Motors A-C sparkplug division last week. "My husband thinks I'm nuts," she remarked.

The management said some 200 persons a day have come to the lot to look the cars over since the sale was advertised two weeks ago. Low price sales are not uncommon in the auto industry for promotion purposes.

Maroon Wrestlers Defeat Otisville Training 20-18

Two novices on the Kingston High School wrestling squad helped to produce a 20 to 18 victory for Coach Ken Brown's matmen at Otisville Training School on Wednesday afternoon.

Larry Brown, 120, and Maurice Choquette, 132, went to the mat for the first time and both came up with victories.

The first two matches proved an exchange of points (five) as George Magee (O) pinned John Mowell (K), 170 lbs., in 3:04.

Lauren Carpinelli (K) evened the scoring by pinning Charles Miller (O) in 2:49 of a 156-lb. class match.

Otisville went ahead five points in the third contest (118 lbs.) when Jose Melindez pinned Dick Eckert in 1:12.

Brown brought the Maroon grapplers back into contention with a 4:26 victory over Otisville's Dan Stormes in a 120-lb. event.

Leland Matzen (O) pinned John Metrick (K) in 1:37 of a 124-lb. go, and then Otisville gained a three-point decision when James Green outpointed Charles Wells in a six-minute period.

Choquette, 132, downed Ronald Manley in 3:19, and in the decisive match Kingston's Fred Wheeler, 139, pinned Domingo Alfonso barely in time — 5:36 with only 24 seconds remaining to get the pin for the match.

Moose Shaub, the sinewy footballer, lost an exhibition match to Magee as the Otisville heavyweight had a time advantage (three minutes on top to capture two points. Magee weighed 170, Shaub 190.

Army Five Rips Siena

By The Associated Press

The Cadets made their record 8-7 by downing the Indians 76-66 at West Point.

Elsewhere upstate, Brockport came from behind to beat visiting Oswego State 64-57 and Ithaca College crushed Mansfield State Teachers of Pennsylvania, 83-66.

Midway in the first half at the military academy, Siena put on a 10-point spurt that cut Army's early 11-point lead to a 30-29 edge. Eight minutes before the final buzzer, however, Cadets Darryle Kouns and Chuck Darby had stretched it again to 16 points.

At Brockport, Oswego led 30-29 at the half but successful foul shooting put the hosts ahead in the final four minutes. High scorer Karl Benedict gave Brockport 30 points while Don Weeks led Oswego with 22.

Y Cadets Defeat Emmanuel, 32-14

The YMCA Cadets captured their first start of the season yesterday defeating Emmanuel Lutheran Jayvees, 32 to 14.

Top scorer for the Cadets was Jack Lewis with 10 points coupled with an outstanding floor game. Andy Felton pumped eight through the wicket.

Dick Case, YMCA physical director, announces that teams wishing to oppose the Cadets should contact him at his office. The Cadet squad is composed of boys 11 to 14 years of age and will play Wednesday afternoons and Saturday mornings.

Hockey Players Win Match From Canada

ROCHESTER (AP)—The U. S. Nationals defeated the Combines from Bowmansville, Ont., 13-4 last night in an exhibition hockey game in Rochester's War Memorial.

Keith West made two of Bowmansville's goals.

The U. S. Nationals will represent the United States in the World Amateur Championships to be played in Oslo, Norway, next month.

OldTimersHonorJoyce, Leskie, Nick Kaslish Before Record Turnout

While three prominent baseball personalities touched on every phase of the game in sparkling speeches, the Old Timers Baseball Association of Kingston achieved new splendor in honoring former stars and Nick Kaslich last night at The Barn.

Jackie Farrell, the New York Yankees' witty ambassador of good will, told the record breaking crowd of 150 persons that "these occasions are moments to be cherished in the lifetime of a former ball player."

Cited for 1957 awards were Paul Joyce, one of Kingston High's all-time great performers and Frank (Boots) Leskie, who did not attend.

Billy Graham Present

The Association honored Paul Giannuzzi as Kingston High School Player of the Year. The trophy symbolic of the award was presented by Dick McCarthy and accepted by Rennie's brother, Paul. Giannuzzi's father, Mario Giannuzzi, was in the audience.

Grieve, a dynamic, witty speaker along the Harry Grayson lines, was a smash hit as he recounted behind-the-scenes life of umpires. He also unleashed a bag of stories about major league stars and earned for himself the accolade of being one of the finest ever to appear here.

Farrell, following Grieve on the dais, deviated from his usual script to speak seriously about Old Timers affairs. He lauded the organization for their annual promotion and said the dinners were a tie to the past that should never be broken.

Ravish Pans Rookies

Ravish, who lives in nearby Hudson, deplored the lack of drive and hustle in young ball players. He paid tribute to Clark Mains of Port Ewen as one of the best-conditioned athletes he had ever managed. Mains won 20 games for Ravish in the Ohio-Indiana League.

Nick Kalsich was hailed as a man who had earned distinction in a tough field by Ken Hyatt, who presented him with a watch in behalf of a group of friends. He praised Kaslich as an outstanding citizen who was a credit to the city over a 40-year career in the pocket billiards field.

Charles J. Tiano, Freeman sports editor who shared the toastmaster chores with Dick McCarthy, presented Paul Joyce with the traditional clock from the Association.

Dodger Veteran Still On Critical List

GLEN COVE (AP)—Dodger catcher Roy Campanella continued to improve today, but still hasn't shaken off the paralysis which struck him from chest to toes in an auto accident.

However, the burly, 36-year-old baseball veteran has regained some feeling in his hands, arms and upper chest.

The last hospital bulletin also said there had been an indication of strength and some movement in his hands. But his legs remained paralyzed.

He still is on the critical list.

Campanella, three times the National League's most valuable player with the Brooklyn Dodgers, was injured early Tuesday. His car skidded on a winding road near his home here, hit a telephone pole and turned over. He was alone in the car.

Campy suffered a broken neck in the crash.

Doctors still consider the overall picture encouraging, but admit it may be months or years before he returns to normal. They are hopeful the paralysis eventually will disappear.

But there is little hope that Campy ever will be able to return to baseball as a player. Not only would there be physical danger because of the injury, but at 36, even Campy probably would not be able to come back.

Empire State Trots Are Worth $300,000

SARATOGA SPRINGS (AP)—The Empire State Trotting and Pacing Classics, worth a total of $300,000 in purses, will be sponsored again this year by Saratoga Raceway and Vernon Downs.

The tracks announced jointly yesterday that there would be eight trotting races and seven pacing events. Each will be worth $20,000.

Both series will alternate between the two upstate harness tracks during July and August. Entries for both close Feb. 15.

Geoffrion On Upswing

MONTREAL — Bernie Boom) Geoffrion, Montreal Canadiens scoring star who underwent a major operation Tuesday following a practice-scrimmage mishap, is "progressing satisfactorily."

Hershey Lead More Secure

By The Associated Press

The heat the Cleveland Barons were putting on the Hershey Bears in the battle for first place in the American Hockey League simmered down somewhat today.

Hershey did the cooling off personally last night, defeating the Barons 5-2 in the only game played. The triumph boosted the Bears' first place margin to five points.

Stan Musial's 100G Salary New National League Record

By BEN OLAN
The Associated Press

Ever since they have been in the major leagues Stan Musial and Ted Williams have bettered one baseball record or another.

Now Musial has added another one to his long list. Put it under "highest annual salary, National League — $100,000. The St. Louis slugger signed for that figure yesterday.

Stan's salary is not a major league mark only because Williams is expected to hit $125,000 when he comes to terms with the Boston Red Sox.

Musial's contract represented a $20,000 boost over 1957. The 37-year-old veteran earned it with his league-leading .351 average coupled with 29 homers and 102 runs batted in.

"It's a wonderful contract," grinned Musial. "I would have settled for less. I expect to have one or two more seasons at top speed."

$125,000 Expected

The 39-year-old Williams, who is more concerned with fishing than baseball at the moment, should have no trouble reaching a salary agreement with the Red Sox. Ted's .388 batting performance of last season is a good "line" and $125,000 is excellent "bait."

At the moment, Williams leads in lifetime batting average—.350 to .340; home runs—456 to 381 and runs batted in—1,639 to 1,572. Musial shows the way, however, in batting titles with seven to Ted's five and in Most Valuable Player awards, three to two.

Righthanded pitcher Murry Dickson, who was Musial's teammate for many seasons until he was unconditionally released last fall, also made news yesterday.

Dickson in Comeback

Dickson, 41, will try for a 1958 comeback with the Kansas City Athletics. He was signed on the recommendation of his old batter-mate, catcher Walker Cooper.

Another veteran, Mickey Vernon, was sold by the Red Sox to the Cleveland Indians in a straight "waiver deal." Vernon, 39, is a two-time American League batting champion.

Richie Ashburn of the Philadelphia Phillies, the National League leader in 1955, came to terms for an estimated $27,500. The fleet outfielder batted .297 last year.

Cincinnati signed lefty pitcher Joe Nuxhall, the New York Yankees rounded up pitcher Art Ditmar and outfielder Bobby Del Greco and Washington hauled in the contracts of second basemen Herb Plews and Bob Malkmus, outfielders Jerry Schoonmaker and Carlos Paula and pitcher Bob Weisler. The Senators also sold outfielder-first baseman Art Schult to Minneapolis of the American Assn. for an undisclosed sum.

UCAL Lead At Stake in Rondout-Onteora Fray

Onteora Central's cagers take the floor for a showdown for the Ulster County League lead tomorrow night against Rondout Valley in Kerhonkson.

Coach Chick Meehan's squad currently holds a one-half game edge over the Indians, which has played one less game and still has a makeup game with Highland.

It's a big one for both clubs with the winner almost sure pop to get into the sectionals in early March. The odds favor Coach Witko's club primarily on the team's brilliant performance against Marlboro last week.

Then, too, Coach Witko has the league's top player in Artie Gribbins. He scored 31 against Coach Joe Cash's boys and did everything but keep score.

Bill Smith Out

On the other hand, Coach Meehan will be without the services of Bill Smith, his first half point-getter. Smith is ineligible for further athletics because he has played the specified eight semesters, being a transfer student.

Meehan's hoopmen did well in a non-league game Tuesday against Montgomery, second in the Orange County Village League. They trail Otisville, unbeaten in eight starts.

Other league action pits Highland at Wallkill and New Paltz at Marlboro.

In the Dutchess County Scholastic circuit, Saugerties travels to Beacon and Wappingers Falls takes on league leading Roosevelt at Hyde Park.

Class A Schools Out of DUSO Race First Time in 23 Years

ST. LOUIS, Mo.—(NEA)—Stan Musial reveals he had serious thoughts of retiring only a couple of years ago (during the reign of Merrie Trader Lane, who peddled off old favorites like Red Schoendienst, The Man's roomie). . . . "I had made up my mind," Stan says, "I wanted to finish my playing days in St. Louis." . . . then a pause, to let the abdication of Lane sink in . . . "Now I know I will." . . .

In his chophouse off Route 66, The Man patiently listened to a group of baseball men deplore the 250-foot fence in the Coliseum, grinned and shrugged, "I don't know what everybody's complaining about." . . .

Ben Kerner, who's done a tremendous job making St. Louis a pro basketball town again, denies he's sorry he peddled the draft rights of Bill Russell to the Celtics . . . for Ed Macauley and Cliff Hagan . . . claiming Hagan alone was worth the deal "because he's been just as effective for us as Russell has been in Boston." . . .

Hagan, called "Li'l Abner" by his mates for his Kentucky drawl and tall, dark good looks, needs a bodyguard to get out of the Hawk dressing room after games . . . to escape the howling femme contingent with the Elvis screeches. . . .

* * *

Don't consign any all-star starting spot to Red Schoendienst this year, warns Card skipper Fred Hutchinson . . . not minimizing the Brave second baseman, but stating flatly his Don Blasingame will be the big keystone man in the National League . . . "Because he does more things for my club." . . .

Hutch blushing over tales of his cyclonic temper . . . which once had him not only breaking every bulb in a dugout runway but jamming them through the light sockets . . . pshaws, "I'm not a psycho, I just get a little excited." . . .

Bing Devine, the slim young general manager of the Cards (he took a Slenderella course and forgot to quit, says Joe Garagiola), wasn't much of a player in the St. Louis farm system, he'll tell you himself . . . but Bing was a top-flight basketball ace at Washington U. who later starred in AAU ranks. . . .

* * *

Rogers Hornsby, stubbornly proud of the sharp eyesight that made him the greatest righthand hitter of all time ((arguments, anyone?), needs glasses to read . . . but no one will know it since he's been fitted for contact lenses. . . .

When the bidding for schoolboy Don Nicholson went over 100 G's, Kenny Williams, the first great slugger of the lively ball era, (hit 39 homers for the Browns and ran the bases in 13.2) revealed he made more money running a bar in Grant's Pass, Ore. the last 13 years than in his 13 seasons in the majors . . . that the only time he's used his silver lifetime pass was to flash it on a cop and get off the hook on a reckless driving rap. . . .

Brightest reports we've read are Ted Schroeder's personalized briefings on the Kramer troupe, airmailed from Australia . . . with such incidata as the encounter with a New Zealand hunter rounding up baby elephants for caddying duty at a Chicago golf course. . . .

The light touch: Vice-President Nixon telling the New York writers on the subject of baseball expansion: "I can think of a lot of towns that ought to have major league franchises . . . that have voters in them." . . . or . . . "New York without a National League team is like Jayne Mansfield without a sweater." . . . then, after the roar of laughter, "I guess you can take that either way." . . .

Isn't Dick Voris, Red Blaik's most valued grid assistant at Army, a hidden bet to get the Utah head job vacated by Jack Curtise? . . .

Between you'n'me, just once we want to hear a guy getting a plaque get up and admit he doesn't owe it all to his teammates, his wife, or providence . . . that he did it all himself. . . .

Congress in Background

Pros Drop Bonus Rule; Reaffirm TV Policies

By RALPH BERNSTEIN

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The National Football League, acting on advice from congressional investigators, eliminated one of their player selection show pieces last night—the bonus choice.

League owners at their annual winter meeting also reaffirmed their television policy for another year, passed a rule giving further protection to college players and joined with the Players Assn. in retaining former All-Pro star Bill Dudley to formulate a player pension program.

Elimination of the bonus choice, though reported a possibility by Commissioner Bert Bell, came as somewhat of a surprise. Instituted in 1947 at the suggestion of ex-pro coach Curley Lambeau, this out-of-the-hat drawing had become a bright feature of the annual player draft.

Cardinals Get King

The bonus choice preceded the start of the regular draft and gave the lucky team negotiating rights to any eligible college player in the country. The Chicago Cardinals last Dec. 2 were the last of the 12 pro clubs to get the bonus, choosing Rice quarterback King Hill.

Commissioner Bell was told during his appearance before a congressional committee investigating pro sports that the out-of-hat system bordered on an illegal lottery. So, the owners, unable to come up with a satisfactory substitute, decided to please Congress and toss out the bonus altogether.

TV Policy Same

Bell announced that the NFL would continue to black out telecasts of its games within 75 miles of the scene of a game. He reiterated that under no conditions, including playoffs and championship games would the league deviate from this policy, approved by a federal judge several years ago after long and costly litigation.

In order to forestall any charge of tampering from the colleges, the owners passed a rule forbidding any NFL team from signing a college or high school player or coach who starts fall training with a school team. This stops the pros from attempting to acquire high school or college talent in the middle of a season.

The 47-year-old Dudley, a member of football's Hall of Fame, was assigned the task of gathering the necessary data, consulting with insurance and pension experts and reporting back to the owners and players with a workable plan within six to eight weeks.

St. Colman's Win CYO Met Division

There was contrast in scoring in games played in the CYO League this week as St. Peter's of Rosendale upended Immaculate Conception 32 to 11; St. Joseph's defeated St. Mary's, 11 to 3 and St. Colman's dumped St. Mary's of Sauerties, 43 to 32, for the Met Division championship.

Jo Ann Bianco of St. Peter's maintained her scoring pace in the distaff loop by contributing 16 points. Eleanor Post scored 11. Carolyn Skop was the Immaculate Conception leader with four.

Marilyn Long bucketed six points in the St. Joseph's win and Regina Bruck's three points was St. Mary's only scoring.

R. Lucas hit double figure (20) to lead St. Colman's attack and Kerin with 15 topped St. Mary's of Saugerties.

Lumley Sparks Boston Surge

By The Associated Press

Veteran Goalie Harry Lumley, subbing for the injured Don Simmons, is one of the big reasons the Boston Bruins are improving their position in the National Hockey League.

The 31-year-old netminder turned in a fine job last night as the Bruins and New York Rangers battled to a 1-1 tie. The last-place Chicago Black Hawks whipped Toronto 4-1 in the only other game.

Lumley turned back 28 New York shots, while Gump Worsley saved 22 in the Rangers' goal.

The Rangers moved two points in front in the competition for second place. The Bruins also gained ground, tying idle Detroit for third place.

Al Kiefer, who twice has dipped below the "400" mark in recent weeks, was the Bowlero Major's pace setter last night with a 598 series on lines of 180, 184 and 234. The other scores by teams:

Kingston High Hosts Middies Here Friday

By TONY CORAPI
(Freeman Sports Staff)

It appears right now that Kingston High basketball fans will have to wait until next year for a crack at the DUSO crown. Any chance Coach Jack Gilligan's cagers had of moving into contention was eliminated Tuesday night with that 73-55 setback to Liberty in the Kate Walton field house.

Coach Bill Van Syke's charges will have to falter badly not to go through the rest of its schedule. The only real battle which faces them is a return match with Port Jervis at Liberty. That shouldn't be much of a task since the Redskins downed Port at home.

The Maroons drab performance can be attributed to two things. Being geared to a point where they were unable to do anything right, and the outstanding play of Liberty which made them look much inferior.

Make no mistake, Liberty has a much better ball club. They have good shooters, speed to burn and despite lack of good height, do well in the rebound department. But one of the team's advantages over the Maroon was to know what to do with the ball once they got their hands on it.

Redskins Well Balanced

Kingston was disorganized. They lost the ball repeatedly on such common violations as walking and palming, infractions which do not occur in great numbers among players of Class A caliber.

First Since 1934

Getting back to Liberty, in the event they do win the crown, it will be the first time since the 1934-35 season when Port Jervis won the DUSO bunting that a Class B school has finished first.

In fact, since 1927 only Monticello and Port have had the distinction of taking DUSO crowns and finished second seven times. Its best season in recent years was in 1952-53 when it won 19 and lost three, but lost out to Poughkeepsie.

The Redskins have never come close to a championship. This team has been together for three years and it is going to take a great deal to pry that league lead away from them. They definitely have the faculties for going through the rest of the campaign without a loss, but in the event they do get beat, you can be sure they will roar right back and be on top of the ladder when the final bell has tolled.

Lawrence Tops

Johnny Lawrence is as good as opposing coaches have said he is. He can do everything well, but his biggest attribute is speed and a deadly set shot. He can sink the ball from any angle provided he can plant himself squarely. Then there is Jack Thompson and Josh Gerow, two hustlers who can deliver the goods when the opposition is concentrating too much on Lawrence.

The prolific scorer is a cinch to be a top candidate for the DUSO "player of the year." The only other player as we see it who can give him a fight is Port's Alex Osowick. Jack Thompson and Bill Pepper also merit some consideration.

The Redskins may have some trouble in keeping its win skein alive tomorrow against Newburgh Free Academy. The Goldbacks could prove troublesome, but on the basis of its performance last week against Port Jervis, the defending champions may not have enough to deal an upset.

In other DUSO tilts, Ellenville is at Poughkeepsie and Fallsburgh at Port Jervis.

Injury Stymies Redmen

By ED WILKS
The Associated Press

What had figured to be the beginning of a chance at prestige for St. John's of Brooklyn tonight now could be the beginning of the end for the Redmen, last of the unbeatens in major college basketball.

St. John's (9-0) took over alone on the undefeated list when West Virginia, top-ranked for six weeks in the Associated Press poll, was knocked off Monday at Duke. Trouble is, the Redmen are untested. The next eight days were supposed to take care of St. John's, one way or the other.

But now the Redmen, rated 13th, have lost big man Lou Roethel (6-6) because of injury for tonight's road game against Pittsburgh. And he'll still be missing Saturday at Philadelphia against 11th-rated Temple.

After that, it's West Virginia at New York's Madison Square Garden a week from tonight.

Only one of the top 10 was busy last night. Eighth-ranked Kentucky belted Georgia 74-55 and reclaimed the Southeastern Conference lead. The Wildcats (13-4), in the midst of a three-game road schedule, fell into a tie for the top with Georgia Tech when the Engineers upset 'em Monday.

Vern Hatton led the Kentucky scoring with 20 points against Georgia, but it was the second half sharpshooting of reserve Earl Adkins that got the job done. Adkins scored 14 points, all in the last 20 minutes, and his three consecutive set shots, all from 30 feet out, chilled a Georgia rally that had whittled Kentucky's lead to five points.

Five-Point Margin Is Pattern

KPA, Kendall Oil Win In Over 30 Cage Loop

The Kingston Patrolmen's Association subdued the Dragons in the Over 30 League last night, 31 to 26, and by the same margin Kendall Oil defeated the VFW, 32 to 27.

Bill Slover didn't exactly knock the netting off the rim, but his six from the field were substantial enough to pace the KPA with 12 points.

The Dragons scoring was led by Vic Patience (8) and John Murphy (7).

The losers took a two-point lead in the first quarter, but relinquished it in the third session and the gendarmes came on fast in the last period.

Charlie Bock, who never seems to lose his touch over the years, dumped in 17 for the Kendalls and Jim Mackay pumped 12 through for the VFW.

Celtics Trip Hawks, 111-101

Just when it appears that the Boston Celtics of the National Basketball Assn. are going to drop back to the rest of the Eastern Division pack, they're back in Boston Garden to pick up another victory.

Last night, they rallied in the second half to whip the St. Louis Hawks 111-101 in the night's only NBA action. That made it 17 straight home victories for Boston, which lifted its first-place margin over idle Syracuse to 6½ games.

Godwins Score 79-70 Win Over Balotin's

Godwins had the right scoring prescription in the YMCA American League last night as they thumped Balotin Rx, 79 to 70.

In an inter-league contest, Caruso's Insurance pounded Wimpy's No. 2, 71 to 58.

The losers completed the first period with a five point deficit and couldn't overcome it despite Joe Dallo' 21 points and some heavy scoring from Bob Brown (19); McKiernon (10), and Edleman (6).

George Holstein's bucketed 29 points in Caruso's victory and got some heavy-duty assistance from Ainslie (17) and Musto (12).

Bill Chase pumped in 16 point for Wimpy's.

WATER SPEEDSTERS — John, 15, and Ilsa Konrads, 13, have been startling the sports world by bettering several world middle distance freestyle swimming marks in Australian championship meets. The Latvian-born brother and sister now make their home in Sydney.

POINT OF ORDER—Coach Vince Boryla of the New York Knickerbockers and referees Mendy Rudolph (No. 6) and Lou Eisenstein have a barbed-tipped conversation about a call. It's typical of wrangling on the professional circuit.

Bethea Defeats Rusty Johnson

CHICAGO (AP)—Young Jack Johnson, who isn't young at 29, is fighting under an alias and maybe it's just as well.

His real name is John Storey, and the story goes that his handlers tabbed him with the Johnson monicker because he was supposed to have the build and the style of the former heavyweight great of yesteryear

Johnson had only two fights in the last two years and the rustiness of the 214-pounder from Los Angeles was glaringly apparent in last night's nationally televised no-hitter at Chicago Stadium.

Through 10 drab rounds, Johnson and Wayne Bethea of New York clubbed at each other, pawed arm-wearingly, and clinched while 1,002 ringside customers booed. Bethea, 204, rated the No. 10 contender by the National Boxing Assn. and No. 8 by Ring Magazine, took a unanimous decision.

Bethea's record now is 17-7-2 and Johnson's mark is 15-10-1.

Severino's 4-Man Sled Wins Tuneup

GARMISCH, GERMANY (AP)—Dick Severino, of Saratoga Springs, yesterday steered his four-man bobsled to victory in the accident-marred Donna Fox Trophy.

The former Air Force captain's triumph over 15 other combinations from seven nations boosted his hopes of gaining one of the two American berths in the world championships Saturday and Sunday.

Severino zipped down the fast, icy mile-long Olympic chute in 1:13.85, one-hundredth of a second quicker than a German sled piloted by Hans Roesch.

Benham, who was heavily bandaged to protect rib injuries suffered in a crackup a week ago, was clocked in 1:14.77, Johnson's time was 1:15.28.

GOOD FOOTWORK—Ricky Maxon, 112 pounds of barefoot boy with fist, swigs water between rounds of a boys' club bout at Marietta, Ga. As long as nobody puts tacks on the canvas Rickey will be fine. He won this bout, too.

Handyman Shoots Down Four Cops, Is Later Seized

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP)—A 67-year-old handyman enraged and nearly blinded by tear gas bombs hurled into his shack shot and wounded four policemen late last night.

Police said David Taylor ran from his tumbledown cabin with a shotgun ablaze and cut down the four officers in rapid succession before being captured at about midnight.

One is Critical

Another of the wounded, Detective Wilburth Spriggs, was in serious condition at the hospital. Spriggs was also shot in the face.

The two other officers, Patrolmen Carrol Perry and John Masland were listed in satisfactory condition.

Campbell stepped out onto his porch to see where the shooting was coming from and was felled with a bullet in the hip. He told police the shot came from the direction of Taylor's shack.

Saugerties VFW Loyalty Essay Contest Begins

Competition in the VFW essay contest in conjunction with the sixth annual Loyalty Day observance in Saugerties, sponsored by Saugerties Memorial Post 5034, VFW, the Auxiliary and Dads of Foreign Service Veterans will begin this week, it was announced by Mrs. Daniel Sheehan, essay chairman.

The theme this year is "Why Loyalty Day?"

Prizes Listed

Prizes are as follows: First $10 (three); second $5 (three) and three third prizes of $3 each. A consolation prize is awarded to a child in each participating school which does not have a winner in the above groups.

Prize awards are made at the annual Loyalty Day dinner April 30. At the dinner one of the three first prize winners is designated Miss Loyalty of 1958. Last year's title winner was Barabara "Bonnie" Dennis.

The winning essays are published in the official program and later are forwarded in the Loyalty Day scrapbook which is entered by National VFW Headquarters to Freedoms Foundation, Valley Forge, Pa.

Reports Attempt On Chou's Life

LONDON (AP)—The Manchester Guardian today reported three U. S.-educated Chinese students tried to assassinate Red Chinese Premier Chou En-Lai last July 28.

The Guardian said it obtained the information from a young Chinese, now in England, who was in China at the time and was associated indirectly with the assassination attempt.

The informant, who was referred to by the pseudonym "Mr. Li," said that although Chou escaped with his life, there were indications that he was wounded or at least suffered from shock. The three would-be killers were executed, "Li" said.

Peiping Radio last July 31 said Chou appeared on the platform that day before 20,000 people attending the army day celebration in the Chinese capital. Chou did not speak to the crowd, but apparently if he was the object of an assassination attempt three days before, he escaped with minor injuries or none at all.

Longest field goal in the Big Ten last season was turned in by Bob Prescott of Iowa against Minnesota. His three-pointer went 35 yards.

Radel Attends Bar Group Talks

Mayor Edwin F. Radel today attended a panel discussion on municipal law in New York.

The discussion was held as part of a three-day meeting of the New York State Bar Association in New York. Members of the Ulster County Bar Association also attended the session.

Injury Not Serious

Mrs. James E. Connelly, of 89 Stephan Street, a school crossing guard at Stephan and Farrelly streets, was hit in the chest with a stone flipped by the wheel of a coal truck while she was on duty yesterday afternoon.

The injury was not serious, Mrs. Connelly said today, probably due to the fact that she wore a heavy coat. The intersection is in dangerous condition due to recent rains and snow.

Educators Feel Life Taken Over Indictment Fear

NEW YORK (AP)—Top school officials say a junior high school principal may have killed himself because a grand juror threatened him with indictment. The foreman of the jury denies the charge.

The accusation came yesterday at funeral services for George Goldfarb, 55, principal of Brooklyn's John Marshall Junior High School.

On Tuesday, Goldfarb leaped from the roof of his apartment house at the time he was to make his third appearance before the Brooklyn grand jury. The panel is probing crime and juvenile delinquency in the public schools.

Was Very Worried

Charles H. Silver, president of the city board of education, told newsmen at Goldfarb's last rites that the school principal had been threatened with indictment and "this probably caused him to take his life. He was very worried."

As School Supt. William Jansen listened and nodded approval Silver said: "Several hours before Mr. Goldfarb appeared before the grand jury last Thursday (for the second time) he came before the board of education.

'In discussing with us his grand jury interrogation, he said that a juror had warned him he might be, or could be, indicted."

Grand jury foreman A. George Golden immediately issued a denial, terming Silver's statement "a deliberate lie," adding that Silver "made that up out of his own mind to befuddle the public."

Denies Threats

At no time since the special panel started its probe last Nov. 6, Golden said, "have we ever threatened any one in that jury room. Everybody has beer treated with respect and courtesy. We are dealing with respected officials and not with hoodlums and roughnecks. We are trying to help the board of education."

Meanwhile some students at racially mixed John Marshall—the student body is 45 per cent Negro and 10 per cent Puerto Rican—threatened news and cameramen, saying: "You're making us look bad," and "if the cops come in our school, we'll make them move out."

Patrol Is Set Up

A continuous public patrol was established yesterday both inside and outside the school, where a 13-year-old girl was raped 10 days ago, a policeman on duty outside the school was roughed up, and a recreational teacher was assaulted inside the school. The rape assailant, whom the white girl identified as a Negro, escaped. Three Negro youths were arrested in the policeman and teacher assault. However, the teen-age hoodlums were not John Marshall students.

Last Tuesday night, in another Brooklyn school, a Negro boy raped a Negro girl.

Canterbury Pace

Canter, the easy gallop of a horse, stems from the days when medieval pilgrims paced their mules and palfreys along the road to Canterbury Cathedral, in England. The original expression was Canterbury pace, or gallop.

Wage Case Against Greenhouse Firm Dismissed in Court

A charge dealing with non-payment of wages against A. Greenhouse, Inc., of Albany and Kingston, was dismissed after trial today before City Judge Aaron E. Klein.

Dismissal followed a motion by Abraham Streifer, counsel for the corporation, on technical points, and the judge based dismissal on "reasonable doubt" as to the validity of the charge.

Eugene L. Hunt, of Ulster Park, a former salesman for the food distributing house, claimed that more than $200 was owed him. Issuance of the warrant dates back to Nov. 26, 1957.

Ulster Kiwanis Hear Attorney's Lecture

A comparison of the British courts with the American trial system was made in a talk by Attorney Hugh Elwyn given at the regular meeting of Ulster Kiwanis Club this week at Rainbow Inn.

President Rodney DeVoe who presided commended Elwyn for his address and extended an invitation for a future speaking engagement at a regular dinner meeting.
